Spanish Bay hearing comes to Carmel

By MICHAEL GARDNER

PEBBLE BEACH Co. Real Estate Development Manager Steve Eimer is so confident the Coastal Commission will approve the Spanish Bay project that he has taken to wearing a white tourist-style shirt emblazoned with the name of the resort.

Perhaps Eimer's confidence is justified because Coastal Commission staff has recommended approval of the controversial Spanish Bay resort in Del Monte Forest.

That recommendation is to be presented to the state Coastal Commission when it reviews the use permit application for the Spanish Bay resort at 9 a.m. Thursday, March 28 at the Holiday Inn near the intersection of Rio Road and Highway 1, Carmel.

Pebble Beach Co. wants to build a 270-unit hotel, 80 condominiums and an 18-hole golf course on the mined-out sand plant site in northwestern Del Monte Forest near the Pacific Grove city limits.

Despite the positive recommendation from staff, Pebble Beach Co. still has many roadblocks ahead before construction can begin — not the least of which is approval by commissioners.

Even if the Coastal Commission grants approval, there remains the question of whether sewage capacity will be available. And a lawsuit challenging the development is pending in Monterey County Superior Court.

The staff wants commissioners to condition the use permit to state that if sewage capacity is not available, then the resort cannot be constructed.

The Pebble Beach Community Services District promises to provide sewage disposal capacity if a proposed wastewater treatment plant is constructed.

However that reclamation plant has not been approved by the Coastal Commission.

And the future of the plant may be tied up in court.

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District contends in a lawsuit that it has permit authority over the reclamation plant, but the water board has not been asked for approval of the project.

There also remains the question of a court battle with the cities of Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey.

The three cities have filed a lawsuit that seeks to block development of the Spanish Bay resort because of its potential impact on eight and under, high-flying; and winners (below) for nine to 12, best workmanship were Jeff McGowan, Jim Hahl, Vernon Hendley and Brooks Moses. The event is sponsored each year by the Carmel Lions Club, the city of Carmel, and the Carmel Unified School District. (Photos by Willard Gill).

Smiles of winners at Carmel Kite Festival

Who wants it?

Dear Editor:

As to the recent attitudes expressed that Spanish Bay is the best plan under the circumstances and will result in the most attractive development in the area: bull!

What do you mean it will result in the most attractive development in the area? The most attractive to look at? To think about? And to whom? The people counting the bucks and celebrities as they roll in with their chests all puffed out, or to the young, old, and people in between who will be squeezed out of our home here when "property values" soar further pulling rents with them?

Perhaps you're talking about the deer, frogs, butterflies, et cetera and those of us who love them who will have even fewer trees and less land to roam freely on, or perhaps we should look forward to more pavement on which to drive our cars, huh?

Come on man, wake up! We people who care about this earth aren't silly, complaining cry-babies making a lot of noise over nothing. Without this planet we are nothing, we cannot exist, and each little piece of it we destroy unnecessarily brings us closer to our entire death.

It's stupid, because, do you know that the technology exists to feed, clothe, and house all people on the earth? Yet we go on putting most sophisticated technology we have into, guess what, nuclear weapons. Yet we go on acting selfishly, thinking only of our own comfort today and turning our faces from tomorrow.

'Indigestible facts remain'

Dear Editor:

Over the past few weeks, we have been subjected to a steady barrage of letters in the paper praising Spanish Bay, all suspiciously similar in style and content and many of them signed by people historically aligned with the Pebble Beach Co.

This has coincided with a spate of dinner invitations to residents of the forest, hosted by the company, to convince them of the desirability of the project and to enlist their support.

We deplore this cynical attempt to buy acceptance for this outrageous development, for after all the wining and dining, the indigestible facts remain.

- A continuous traffic jam from one end of the forest to the other.
- A disastrous overloading of highways 1 and 68.
- The installation of a large sewage treatment plant below the Morse Reserve.
- Further drain on our limited water supply.

• A two-year construction program which will seriously impact the Congress Road area, resulting in a major traffic artery, destroying the peace and tranquility of that part of the forest forever.

• Restriction of the Spanish Bay area to the affluent few in violation of Coastal Act priority of access for the general public.

We urge your attendance at the Coastal Commission hearing March 27/29 at the Holiday Inn in Carmel on Rio Road to show opposition to this project once and for all.

'Arrogant treatment'

Dear Editor:

As patrons and supporters of Harrison Memorial Library for an aggregate of 80 years, we object to the arrogant treatment we received from the administration of the library.

The administration of the library decided to issue new library cards. We were given forms to fill out inquiring our name, mailing address, physical location of our residence, driver's license number, social security number, date and month of birth, age, home phone number, business phone number, etc.

All of this data will eventually end up in a computer memory. We believe this is an invasion of our privacy. All the library is entitled to know is the name and mailing address and whether one lives within the city limits or in Monterey County outside the city limits.

When we refused to give her the information she required, the director of the library refused to process our application for a new card and curtly suggested we use another library.

Lord have mercy on us and protect us from the heavy hand of bureaucracy.

Modify Spanish Bay

Dear Editor:

The Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club urges the adoption of the following modifications to the planned Spanish Bay development:

- Instead of a large hotel, a small "country inn," maximum 100 rooms with a height limit of 35 feet.
- No condominiums, they are not coastal-dependent or visitor-serving.
- No new gates, traffic to be absorbed inside Pebble Beach using existing gates.
- No hauling of sand or gravel, but esthetic use of sand on site.
- The use of native plants only, and no tree removal.
- A hiking trail corridor for the open space area from the Country Club Gate, to the beach.
- A bike trail separate from the roads.

We question the need for another golf course; it is not a coastal-dependent use. If there must be one, it should be the new type small one, on the disrupted dune area, not in the forest or close to the beach.

This reduction in the size of the development would make it more attractive to guests as well as local residents. It would not be so obtrusive from the beach.

It would cause the least damage to the forest and sustain the present wildlife habitat, be a minimum inconvenience to residents, and would cause minimum increase in traffic, water use and sewage disposal problems.

Solve real problems

Dear Editor:

Take heart, all who love comedy, because the Carmel Follies is alive and well in city hall. The latest act in this continuing soap opera is the recent rejection by the planning commission of an application for an antique shop.

The commission cited the "health, welfare and safety" section of the general plan as authority for the denial. Surely the citizens of Carmel, in whose name the city administration functions, must be chuckling at this latest episode in a comedy that has been running for so many years.

Carmel has always been a mixed attraction, beginning with the initial efforts of land developers to promote lots for vacation cabins. Then came the writers, artists, sculptors and photographers, followed by sightseers, beachcombers, honeymooners and souvenir shoppers. Finally, the retirees and permanent residents employed elsewhere on the peninsula.

Carmel has never been just one kind of attraction to the exclusion of all others, and we still have this mixed appeal today. It explains why Carmel is unique, not only among the cities of the peninsula, but in the entire state.

CV ruling underscores land use sensitivity

NOW THAT the Monterey County Board of Supervisors has decided not to appeal the ruling by Judge Richard Silver overturning the Carmel Valley Master Plan, the ball is squarely in the county's court to get on with the business of sensible land use planning in the Valley.

Rejection of the plan by the Monterey County Superior Court judge resulted from failure by the county to follow procedures for adequate public notice, to address specific environmental concerns, and to adopt necessary "findings" in support of certification of the plan consistent with requirements of law and compatible with public confidence in the elective political process.

Much of that "cavalier" approach to important land use planning, to use the words of Judge Silver, stemmed from personal attitudes and philosophies of former supervisors. Since they have been replaced by new and evidently more responsible supervisors, there is virtually no likelihood that the board will evade its duties.

In his directive that any decision on whether the Odello property should be excluded from the Carmel Valley Master Plan area must be delayed until after the plan is adopted, Judge Silver went out of his way to make an apology to the Odello family.

Judge Silver said he regrets "the delay and confusion that must be felt by the Odellos as well as other concerned citizens in the Carmel Valley area." Whether this further delay will make a difference in terms of the eventual realization of the long-delayed Odello project remains to be seen.

If there is frustration or anger to be directed at anyone for this decision and the extension of the building moratorium in Carmel Valley, it should be directed at the former board of supervisors — not at the city of Carmel for initiating the lawsuit, and not at Judge Silver for his interpretation of the law.

Perhaps this protracted litigation, with its attendant effects on land development and economic planning in the Valley, can serve as a lesson to this and future boards of supervisors concerning the importance of proper and adequate land use planning.

This uniqueness also makes one wonder at the statistical innocence of planning commission staff who claim that there are too many antique shops, or jewelers, or art galleries in Carmel. Couldn't one also say there are too many motels, restaurants, souvenir shops, clothing stores, banks and real estate agents on a per capita basis?

In reality, there is no proper "balance" unless the city is willing to set a precise quota on the numbers of each type of business that will be allowed. Is the city then prepared to subsidize hardware stores, grocery stores, laundries, electricians, shoe repairing, and barber shops simply to maintain some imaginary "balance"?

Carmel's uniqueness resulted from allowing people the freedom to determine their own pursuits within reasonable, broad standards. This is the way America has functioned successfully for two centuries and it has made our country unique.

Carmel has sizeable revenues coming from sales taxes and other sources. Not knowing what to do with these riches, successive city administrations have chosen to play in real estate, without any mandate from the voters, and without any definite plans for following through.

The aimless acquisition of one piece of property after another has substituted for real solutions to the problems of senior housing, library expansion, parks, and parking space—problems which are constantly "postponed until the next meeting."

The city administration should make serious efforts to solve the city's real problems, and let individuals decide if they want to risk their own time and savings on a jewelry store, art gallery, or antique shop.

Widen Highway 1

Dear Editor:

The time has come: we need relief now from the traffic congestion between Ocean Avenue and Carmel Valley Road.

The answer becomes obvious. The widening to four lanes of Highway 1 would circumvent the admitted delays and indecisions by Caltrans which will put off the development of Hatton Canyon Freeway until at least 1988-89.

Meantime the already extremely high cost of Hatton Canyon Freeway is projected at approximately $24 million now and steadily mounting. The state already owns the land each side of Highway 1 and the present cost of the two additional lanes would be approximately only $1 million.

While Caltrans drags through its delayed processing of Hatton Canyon (followed by state and federal reviews), we can "get moving" up Highway 1 much sooner, much cheaper and without the destruction of the beautiful natural land through the canyon.

Opinion is shifting, and we can express our desire to go ahead with Highway 1 now by signing petitions available from the Carmel Area Coalition, Box 21, Carmel, Calif. 93921 or calling 624-3790 or 625-2299.

Reviewer missed point

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter first as a mother and grandmother. Second, as a teacher working with students between the ages of 12 to 18. Third, as a member of the cast of Little Mary Sunshine.

Little Mary Sunshine is advertised as a show for the entire family and that is exactly what it is. The recent review was good as far as the "review" went, but it seemed totally out of place for the reviewer to suddenly write a four-paragraph editorial in the middle of a musical review.

I am wondering if the reviewer would have found Maurice Chevalier's performance of "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" from Gigi sleazy and sick.

I am only sorry that my grandchild lives in Houston and cannot see the show.

Tie Spanish Bay project to sewage, Coastal Commission staff urges

water supply, traffic, and sewage capacity. There also is a threat of a voter referendum if the Coastal Commission approves the Spanish Bay application.

Pebble Beach Co. officials have answered questions about sewage capacity by citing a letter from the community services district that promises Spanish Bay will receive capacity through a new wastewater reclamation plant near Sawmill Gulch in Del Monte Forest.

THEY ALSO claim that a small temporary packaging plant at Spanish Bay would suffice until more capacity could be obtained.

But Coastal Commission staff recommends denial of the small packaging plant.

And a "promise" letter from the community services district is not good enough for the Coastal Commission staff, Planner Lee Otter told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook.

"Promising is not exactly the same as actually being available," Otter said.

"Capacity has to be unconditionally available. It must have government approval and funding and be in operation or actually under construction," he said.

The staff report states that the Spanish Bay resort will use 86,400 gallons of sewage per day. The Pebble Beach Community Services District, which purchases one-third the treatment capacity of the Carmel Sanitary District, does not now have that capacity.

The community services district has imposed a three-year moratorium on new connections — except for existing lots of record — in the forest until additional capacity is available through a wastewater reclamation plant.

The moratorium is to expire this June.

Community Services District General Manager Stan Kawa has said he expects Coastal Commission approval of the wastewater reclamation plant to be forthcoming in April.

The more than 600,000 gallon per year wastewater treatment plant would provide more than ample sewage capacity for Spanish Bay, Kawa said.

But the Coastal Commission staff wants action and not words, according to its report.

"The commission finds that at this time very limited proven capacity remains in the PBCSD system. Some solutions are pending, but are not yet before the commission," states a proposed resolution to be presented to commissioners.

"At this time the commission finds that capacity is not available to serve the entire project or even the entire visitor-serving portion."

Otter does not think the commission — if it accepts the staff recommendations — would be granting an "empty approval."

THERE IS no guarantee the Coastal Commission will deny the wastewater reclamation facility.

But if it is constructed, the capacity for Spanish Bay sewage disposal will be there.

Or eventually the Carmel Sanitary District may obtain state permission to boost its capacity. Currently, Pebble Beach Community Services District pays the Carmel district to dispose of about 800,000 gallons of sewage per day.

THE BATTLE over a permit to develop a 270-room hotel, 80-condominium, and golf course complex at Spanish Bay in Pebble Beach is expected to be decided March 28

Under terms of an agreement between the two districts, Carmel is required to make available to Pebble Beach one-third of any additional capacity.

Carmel Sanitary District Manager Michael Zambory told this newspaper his agency will have the capacity to serve Spanish Bay by December.

The state Regional Water Quality Control Board will review a request by the Carmel Sanitary District to increase its capacity by 600,000 gallons a day when it meets April 12 in Solvang.

If the increase is approved, 200,000 gallons per day will be allotted to Pebble Beach — more than enough for the resort, he said.

Zambory said the state staff "wholeheartedly" supports his district's application.

The recommendation from state water board staff is to allow the increased capacity once improvements are completed at the Carmel Sanitary District plant.

Those improvements are scheduled to be finished by no later than Dec. 1, Zambory said.

Otter said there are other ways the company could decrease sewage flow.

Pebble Beach could impose water conservation measures and improve existing systems, which may reduce the flow of effluent to provide enough capacity for Spanish Bay, Otter said.

Water in the lines is counted as sewage flow.

"There are many different ways it can be served. This is not an empty approval," Otter said.

The staff report also addresses several before the Coastal Commission, which meets at the Holiday Inn at the mouth of Carmel Valley. Pebble Beach Corp., developers of the resort, claim the project will help restore other major concerns, including traffic congestion and water supply.

Pebble Beach Co. officials have offered a plan to improve Highway 68 that they say will improve the two-lane road that connects Carmel and Pacific Grove via Skyline Forest.

The company proposes to make several improvements at the Highway 68 light at Community Hospital.

For traffic going into the hospital from Carmel, the company will widen Highway 68 to provide a deceleration lane to help clear logjams of cars stopped at the light on their way to Pacific Grove.

IN ADDITION, the company will provide a widened lane for those cars coming out of the hospital and turning right toward Pacific Grove.

A signal light will be added where the company plans to open a new gate into the forest near Haul Road.

Traffic entering Del Monte Forest from Carmel will turn left at the signal. Westbound cars continuing to Pacific Grove will have a constant green light.

Traffic leaving the forest at the new gate only will be allowed to turn right toward Carmel.

However, that right-turn will have a constant stop rather than signal so the right-of-way always will be with the cars going from Pacific Grove toward Carmel.

The only time eastbound vehicles will be stopped by the light is when a car turns from the westbound lane into the forest.

Eimer said the company prefers a new road the sand dunes (above). Opponents say restoration of sand dunes cannot come in the form of more buildings and parking lots. (Michael Gardner photo.)

and entrance on Highway 68 rather than using Haul Road for "safety reasons."

"The intersection we propose is further down from Haul Road in the middle of a straightaway. It makes for a safer and far better traffic solution," Eimer said.

Otter agrees with Eimer that the proposed improvements to Highway 68 will mitigate any additional traffic problems Spanish Bay is expected to create.

"We think we're coming out about even on the highway condition," Otter said.

Staff recommends construction of the improvements be completed before the resort is allowed to open.

SINCE THE new road and entrance would damage environmentally sensitive areas, staff recommends Pebble Beach Co. be required to provide other open space or change the location of the entrance and roads.

One such property is on 17 Mile Drive between Crocker Grove and the shoreline. That area contains 400-year-old native cypress trees.

If the staff recommendations are followed, another area the company must provide as open space is similar to the Crocker Grove, but farther north.

The third site to become open space is a Gowan Cypress Grove in the Skyline area near Highway 68.

The company will have to ensure that these areas are preserved through actual purchase or deed restriction arrangements with the current property owners, Otter said.

Library expansion called a threat to business

By MICHAEL GARDNER

CLOSURE of Lincoln Street to make way for an expansion of Harrison Memorial Library will have a "negative impact on neighboring businesses."

That is one key statements in the just-released draft environment impact report for the proposed $1.2 million expansion of Harrison Memorial Library.

The environmental impact report is available for public review at the library and temporary city hall offices at Sunset Center. Individual copies are available for purchase for $15 each.

The purpose of the draft EIR is to inform the public about the environmental impacts of the city proposal to build a 6,500 sq. ft. expansion of the library directly on Lincoln Street between Ocean and Sixth avenues.

Some key issues reported by the document include traffic circulation, parking and the impact closure of Lincoln Street will have on neighboring businesses.

In addition the more than 100-page document details some of the pros and cons of 10 alternatives to Lincoln Street closure.

The deadline for public comments on the draft EIR is April 12. Consultant Earth Science and Associates of Foster City then will rework the document based on public comments and submit the environmental impact report to the city for certification.

Because of the lengthy reviews and public hearings on the library expansion concept, the EIR contains little new information that hasn't already been discussed.

Its primary purpose is to wrap up all of the environmental impacts in one report to give the city a basis for a decision on where to best expand or build a library annex.

The current plan is for the city to completely close Lincoln Street between Ocean and Sixth avenues. The library then would be expanded west onto Lincoln Street.

The expansion would be one-story at the entrance and two-story toward the back of the building.

A walkway between the expansion and existing Pine Inn shops would connect Ocean and Sixth avenues.

The draft environmental impact report states that the "project as designed would have a negative effect upon local businesses."

The basic premise to support this statement is possible loss of parking and circulation in the area, the EIR states.

THE NET removal of five short-term (20-minute) parking spaces along Lincoln Street would aggravate the existing parking shortage in Carmel, unless the city provided additional parking," the report states.

Council to maintain night hours position

By MICHAEL GARDNER

WHILE SOME merchants hail a moment of triumph, the Carmel City Council promises that its battle to keep the city from becoming a night-time shopping mall is far from over.

The council — on the advice of City Atty. Don Freeman — March 14 unanimously rescinded an emergency ordinance that would have required most new retail shops to close by 6 p.m. or "one-half hour past the time of local sunset, whichever is later."

But the council did tell staff to prepare a comprehensive study of how many businesses are open in the evenings and the impact those shops have on the commercial district apartments and nearby residential zones.

The council retreat followed a temporary injunction against imposition of the ordinance issued by Monterey County Superior Court Judge John Anton.

The injunction was successfully sought by Bennett Sculpture, a Cottage Row art gallery that would have been affected by the night-time hours ban.

A Friday, March 15 hearing on the legality of the ordinance was dropped after the council rescinded the ban in a special meeting the day before.

The council rescinded its ordinance after City Atty. Don Freeman revealed that he did not think the courts would interpret the situation as an emergency that constitutes an immediate threat to the health, welfare and safety of citizens.

Under state law a city can enact emergency laws if there is an impending threat to the health, welfare and safety of the residents. The ordinance must pass by a four-fifths vote.

Routine ordinances are required to have two "readings," which gives the opportunity for more public debate. And those ordinances do not become law until 30 days after adoption.

The ban on night hours originally was approved by the council March 5 in response to what some city officials saw as a proliferation of applications for stores to remain open until 9 p.m.

The ban would have applied only to new businesses, but once the shops were sold the new owner would have to abide by the ordinance restrictions.

Exemptions were to be made for grocery, liquor and drug stores, restaurants and bars.

THE NOW-rescinded ordinance appeared to be targeted at developer Craig McFarland's Cottage Row, northwest corner of San Carlos Street and Sixth Avenue.

Shops in Cottage Row are required by the leases to remain open until 9 p.m. McFarland said the condition was imposed at the request of the merchants who first signed leases.

"It was illegal and they knew it," is how Bennett Sculpture Business Manager David Mesinger described the ordinance.

The brief court battle, which cost Bennett Sculpture "thousands of dollars," was one of economic survival, Mesinger told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook March 15.

"We did some counts the first few days. As much or more people come in between 5 and 9 o'clock than come in the rest of the day," he said.

"We're in an art gallery district. The evening is when most of the art galleries do business. It's a more relaxed atmosphere.

"They're the more serious buyers. That's when most of the art gallery sales are made," he said.

But Mesinger said the court battle also was one of importance for all businesses, not just Bennett Sculpture.

"We did it not just for us, but for anyone who wants to open in the future," he said.

Mesinger believes the night-time hours ordinance was a "vendetta" against landlord/developer McFarland.

The city and McFarland have had long-

DAVID MESINGER, business manager for Bennett Sculpture, successfully challenged a city council moratorium on limiting the hours of many retail businesses in town. Mesinger said most of the Bennett Sculpture business is conducted between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Ben-

running feuds, mostly over the Carmel Beach seawall that protects his home, and the design of Cottage Row.

"They were out after Craig McFarland and it cost us (Bennett Sculpture) a lot of money. The council just walks away," Mesinger said.

"If it was a vendetta against him, it costs us thousands of dollars and him nothing," Mesinger said. "It was a personal vendetta against him. His name was mentioned every time the ordinance was talked about.

"We and everyone else who wants to open late are the victims. Because they had a vendetta against him, we're the innocent victims."

But despite past events, Mesinger still is happy to have the galleries in Carmel.

"We don't harbor any bad feelings. We love Carmel. The Bennetts started in Carmel when they owned the Highlands Gallery (near Point Lobos) 12 years ago," Mesinger said.

"We were in Carmel Plaza five years ago. We've been ardent Carmel lovers and supporters. We don't want to be the bad guys."

BUT Carmel City Council members who talked with this newspaper after the March 14 meeting noted that the battle is far from over.

The message to business, council members say, is clear: voluntarily close your doors early or we'll find a legal way to do it for you.

"I don't think this is the end of it. The problem is still here. There might be other ways to go about it. It's a matter that's still before us," Councilman Robert Stephenson said.

"We have made the statement that we are concerned about turning Carmel into a shopping center when there are shopping centers on both sides of us," Stephenson said in reference to Del Monte Shopping Center in Monterey and The Barnyard and Crossroads at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

"We feel that shopping center activity is not part of Carmel. I think the merchants got the message," he said.

Stephenson scoffed at the idea that the move to limit night-time hours is targeted solely at McFarland.

"It's not a vendetta. I would have to agree that he is the one who sparked it. I don't think we were out to get him. We're out to keep the town from turning into a shopping center," he said.

Mayor Charlotte Townsend said the council has made "a statement loud and clear" that it will not tolerate more businesses remaining open at night.

"We want to avoid at all costs becoming a shopping center," the mayor said. "It's a grave concern of every council member. Our primary purpose is to keep us from becoming another Solvang."

The mayor pointed out that the original 1929 city charter states Carmel is to be primarily a resident-oriented community and business is subservient to the wishes of the citizens.

"The essence of what is Carmel could be easily lost if we are not careful," she said.

The mayor also does not think that the council action is a vendetta against McFarland.

"That's ridiculous," she remarked. However, Townsend added that McFarland's lease to keep stores open until 9 p.m. "is turning us into a shopping mall."

Maradei added that the push to limit hours is not directed at McFarland.

"Absolutely not. It doesn't matter who the landlord is, we'd be opposed to him. The council does not think in terms of individuals. It has to think in terms of the residential character of the community," he said.

City to make money on Gamble deal

By MICHAEL GARDNER

IF ALL goes according to City Administrator Doug Schmitz' plan, Carmel will make at least $46,000 from purchase of four lots in the Gamble estate.

And no city funds are to be spent unless the property is not resold before March 1, 1986.

With escrow due to close Monday, March 25 the city council has just completed the final legal and financial maneuverings so that it can buy the four lots and put the property on the market immediately.

Because of adjustments in the purchase agreement, the actual cost to the city for its four lots now is $678,750, or $6,250 less than the original council offer of $685,000.

As part of a complex deal with the Gamble estate, the private Carmel development firm of Tescher-LeVette is to buy five of the lots, including the house, for $715,000.

The joint city-private firm venture was initiated to keep a developer from maximizing building on the property bordered by Santa Lucia and 13th avenues and Dolores and Lincoln Street.

Before the city stepped in, a private developer could have built 14 residences. Under terms of the purchase agreement, the city has adopted a specific plan that will preserve the Gamble home on one site and allow only eight new lots to be developed.

The city council, which has vowed to place its four lots on the market for immediate resale, took the final steps for a purchase proposal during a special meeting March 14.

Acting as individuals, council members that afternoon incorporated themselves as Angeles underwriting firm of Bancroft, O'Conner, Chilton and Lavell has agreed to sell the certificates of participation through the Golden State Sanwa Bank of Rosemead.

The underwriters are to sell to private interests $990,000 certificates that have an interest rate of 7 percent.

THE certificates are tax-exempt and thus enticing despite the lower-than-usual interest rate, Schmitz told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook after the meeting.

Under the financing scheme, the civic improvement corporation is required to make two payments — one for $480,000 by March 1, 1986 and a second for $510,000 by March 1, 1987, Schmitz explained.

But the city plans to have the property resold far sooner than the March 1 deadline, he noted.

The $990,000 represents the actual purchase price and bank fees, plus another $144,000 in reserve.

However, the financing program actually will add dollars to city coffers if all goes according to the "City of Carmel-by-the Sea Civic Improvement Corp."

Incorporation as a separate non-profit agency is a legal maneuver to get around case law that states a city council can buy property only if it is for public use.

But the non-profit corporation does have legal authority to sell tax-exempt "certificates of participation" so the property can be purchased and later resold to a private interest.

Under the financing proposal adopted by the Civic Improvement Corp., the Los Anges underwriting firm of Bancroft, O'Conner, Chilton and Lavell has agreed to sell the certificates of participation through the Golden State Sanwa Bank of Rosemead.

The underwriters are to sell to private interests $990,000 certificates that have an interest rate of 7 percent.

That is about $150,000 more than the actual purchase price and a tidy sum to cover expenses for all of the consultant, underwriter and bank fees involved.

And if the bids come in higher than $30 a square foot, the city will realize even more income.

In addition, the city will net some revenue from the interest on the $144,000 reserve, Schmitz said.

The certificates will offer a 7 percent return while the actual interest earned will more likely be in the 8.50 to 9.25 percent range, he said.

Under his outline, Schmitz anticipates that the resale funds and additional interest on the reserve will add $46,000 to the city general fund.

The council chose to incorporate as a non-profit board after a separate financing scheme with the Chicago-based investment firm of Borge-Warner failed to materialize.

'We Care' group to celebrate anniversary

DISCUSSION of new methods to help battle the problem of drug and alcohol abuse by area teenagers will mark a one-year anniversary meeting of "We Care."

We Care, a group of area parents, teachers and students formed to help minimize drug and alcohol abuse problems, will mark its first year of existence at a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 28 at the Carmel Youth Center.

The major topic of discussion will be a presentation from eight teachers, parents and students who attended a San Diego conference on "Communities in action make it happen."

The March 15-16 conference, which provided insights on how schools and cities are working to prevent drug and alcohol abuse, was sponsored by the "Californians for Drug Free Youth."

Those who attended the San Diego conference and will make presentations to We Care next week are: Blake Fussenich, principal at Carmel Valley High School; Jeanne Muir-Fletcher, teacher at CVHS; John Waldron, middle school teacher; students Juliette Peck, Tiffany Clayton and Christopher Karachale; and parents Joette Duncan and Mary Trittipio.

Cost of sending the eight members to San Diego was paid through donations from the local Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs, Padre Parents, the middle school Parent-Faculty Club, the associated students of the high school, and We Care.

The public is invited to the meeting. The Carmel Youth Center is on the southwest corner of Torres Street and Fourth Avenue, near the police station.

To raise fingerlings

Steelhead group looks for a nurturing pond

By ROBERT MISKIMON

THE CARMEL River Steelhead Association is looking for a place to nurture steelhead fingerlings rescued this summer from the dying river.

The fishermen's association has been informed by California-American Water Co. that it cannot use a settling pond on Schulte

'This is a wildlife project of no little significance. We've been told this is the only time a successful raising of wild fish has been done in the state.'

Road in Carmel Valley this year because of complaints by a nearby resident.

About 14,000 steelhead fingerlings were netted from the river in last summer's "fish rescue," fed and raised in the pond before being released back into the river by the group.

"We'd like to use the pond again this year but Cal-Am won't let us," said Dr. Roy Thomas, a Carmel Valley dentist and vice-president of the 25-member association. "A neighbor complained about the sounds of the water splashing."

Last year, the Carmel River Steelhead Association spent approximately $10,000 on its fish rescue program — $2,000 of which came from the state and $8,000 of which was allocated by the county board of supervisors.

"This year, we don't expect to get the full $8,000 from the county," Thomas said. "We had to buy water from Cal-Am at a cost of $4,000 or $5,000, and the rest went for feed, aerators, and nets. It was all done with volunteer labor."

Thomas said about 30 or 40 members and friends of the association were involved in the feeding effort. The young salmon/steelhead must be fed five times a day for the first two months, and three times a day for the last month or so, he said.

The fish are gathered in June or July and transported to a freshwater holding area to be nurtured during the summer and fall months when the Carmel River does not flow. They are then released into the river when flows are adequate.

Although the Department of Fish and Game has offered to supply steelhead fingerlings from other areas of the state to be released into the Carmel River, thus saving the expense and effort of the annual fish rescue, this alternative does not please the steelhead fishermen.

"We'd like to preserve the natural run of steelhead here," Thomas told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook. "This strain of fish is why Father Serra built the mission here. These fish have come back to the same river every year for 10,000 years."

'WHEN WE PICK them up, they're

STEELHEAD fingerlings are netted (above) from the Carmel River each year by members of the Carmel River Steelhead Association before the river stops flowing, then transported to a freshwater site to be fed and nurtured until the river flows again. This year, the association needs a feeding pond somewhere in Carmel Valley. (Alan McEwen photo.)

three or four months old and between one and three inches in length," Thomas said. "When we release them, they're five to 14 inches long."

"They stay in the river for a year or so, then live in the ocean for two years, then they migrate up the river to spawn. If they get caught in the river, they'll die. After we pick them up, take care of them, and release them, they slowly work their way into the ocean."

Thomas said the Carmel River Steelhead Association got into wildlife conservation initially because of members' interest in the sport of fishing, but said the concern has broadened since then.

"This is a wildlife project of no little significance," he said. "We've been told this is the only time a successful raising of wild fish has been done in the state."

Ed Haber, owner of Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, tentatively has offered use of a private lake on his resort for the steelhead project, but Thomas said there may be a difficulty because of the elaborate rigging required.

"We have to build docks, hang nets, and install a feeder — which may not look too good out there," he said. "What we really need is someone with a swimming pool and a well who's willing to let us use it so we don't have to pay for the water."

Youth Center offers dance instruction

ONE, TWO, swing your partner while learning the Western Swing, the Texas Swing, the Cotton Eyed Joe, the Slappin' Leather and other dances at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center.

Western dance classes meet Tuesday nights from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. for beginners and from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. for intermediate and advanced students. Classes are given in four-week sessions for $20 per session per person. Partners are not required. The next session will begin on Tuesday, April 9.

Western Dance Unlimited is the organization which will teach the classes. Mary Figuerido began Western Dance Unlimited in 1982 in San Luis Obispo. Since then classes have spread throughout central California, primarily sponsored by recreation departments and civic organizations.

As the popularity of the classes grew, some of Mary's best students began instructing. One of these students, Lulu, teaches at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center. The instructors also perform in an award-winning dance troupe.

The philosophy of Western Dance Unlimited is to provide high-quality, enjoyable and affordable western dance lessons, which do not require partners, for all ages. They strive to be responsible, patient and enthusiastic in their teaching techniques. Western Dance Unlimited is a professional organization geared to share the fun and joy that they have found in the dances.

Kick up your heels on Tuesday, April 9 at 6:30 p.m. or 8 p.m., depending on your ability, at the C.V. Community Youth Center on Ford Road.

DANCE classes are offered at the Carmel Valley Community Center beginning Tuesday, April 9. Several styles of western dance will be taught.

Board reviews Russell Ranch

AN APPLICATION to convert the approximately 330-acre former Russell Ranch in Carmel Valley to a 12-unit resort will be presented to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, March 19.

The application is scheduled for review at 9:45 a.m. in the county courthouse in Salinas.

The ranch — since renamed "Stonepine" — is to be converted to a resort with a conference center and equestrian facilities.

The Monterey County Planning Commission Jan. 28 recommended approval of the project, just off Carmel Valley Road about a mile east of the Village.

Water district backs off from armed guard

THE MONTEREY Peninsula Water Management District may be able to enforce its ordinances along the Carmel River without having an armed peace officer.

Chris Pentony, who is enrolled in law enforcement courses at Monterey Peninsula College as preparation for the position, told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook last week it now appears he could perform his duties without a gun.

The Carmel River Advisory Committee got embroiled in controversy over a staff recommendation presented at its Feb. 25 meeting that the panel give its blessings to hiring such an armed officer to enforce river-related regulations.

Committee members expressed apprehensions about having an armed officer patrolling the river, but, as chairman Robert Zobel said: "We can't have somebody down there just writing citations. He has to carry a gun. If we could do what we wanted to do, it wouldn't be a problem, but we can't."

However, Pentony — who now is employed by the water management district as a construction representative — said last week he has since the committee meeting received differing opinions from those in law enforcement.

"I was trying to give my presentation (at the committee meeting) and was interrupted by a member of the public," Pentony said. "All I said was that the use of a gun was covered in my training."

"My initial opinion was that I should carry a gun. Then I got other recommendations that I would not have to carry a gun. You can be a peace officer without carrying a gun. I think it could readily be done without a gun. I personally went into this with the thought I wouldn't be carrying one."

Pentony said law enforcement would be "just one-fifth" of his job, and noted that his other activities have included planting erosion-control willows along the river, coordinating efforts by the California Conservation Corps to help with willow plantings, collecting data for a mathematical model of the river, and preparing and disseminating informational items for the public.

The bulk of river management law on the Carmel River pertains to erosion control and related threats to the river, such as motorized vehicles in the channel, alteration or damage to the river channel or banks, and individual erosion control works.

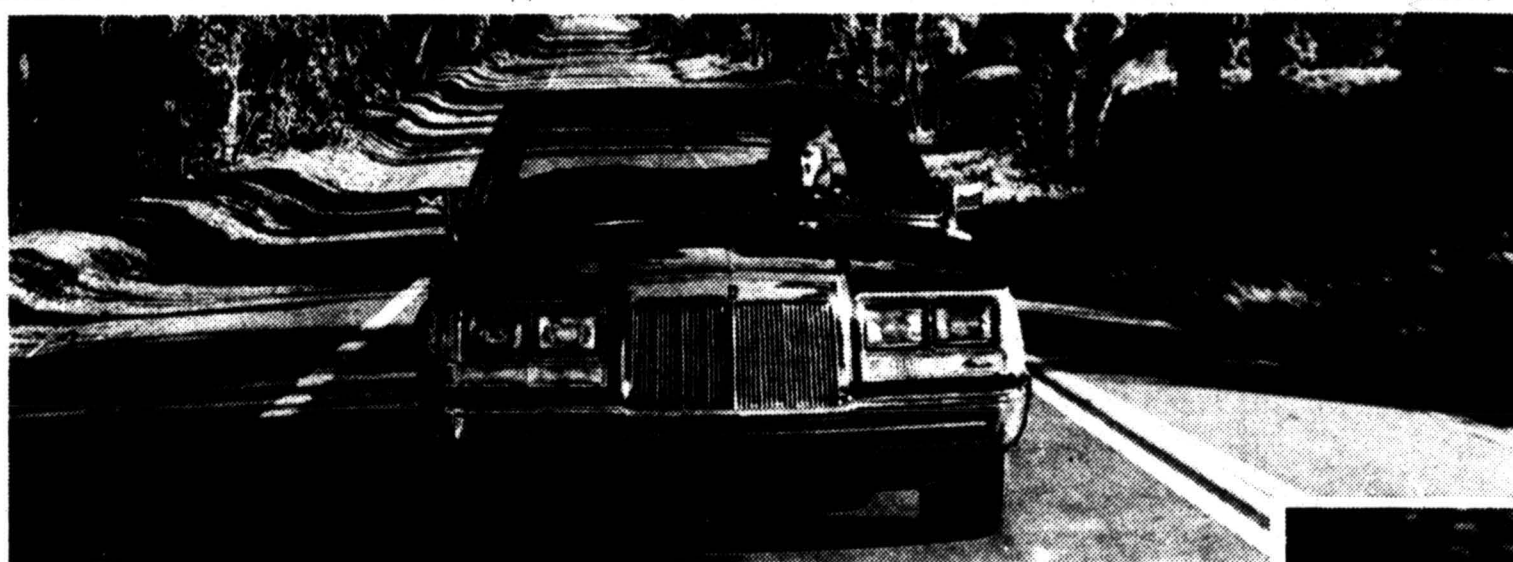

"It's unfortunate that the CRAC (Carmel River Advisory Committee) memo reached that level of interpretation," Pentony said. "I feel very comfortable at this time not carrying a gun."

Pentony added that it would be possible for him, as peace officer, only to enforce river management laws and not to get involved with enforcement of all laws — as originally suggested to the committee.

The Carmel River Advisory Committee is scheduled to consider the item again when it meets at 10 a.m. Monday, March 25 at The Crossroads conference room.

Federal funds available for tree removal in CV

By SUSAN BOCK

FEDERAL FUNDS are available to remove hazardous trees along Carmel Valley Road but not for low-income housing in the Valley, directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association learned last week.

The CVPOA Board of Directors met Wednesday, March 13 at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley.

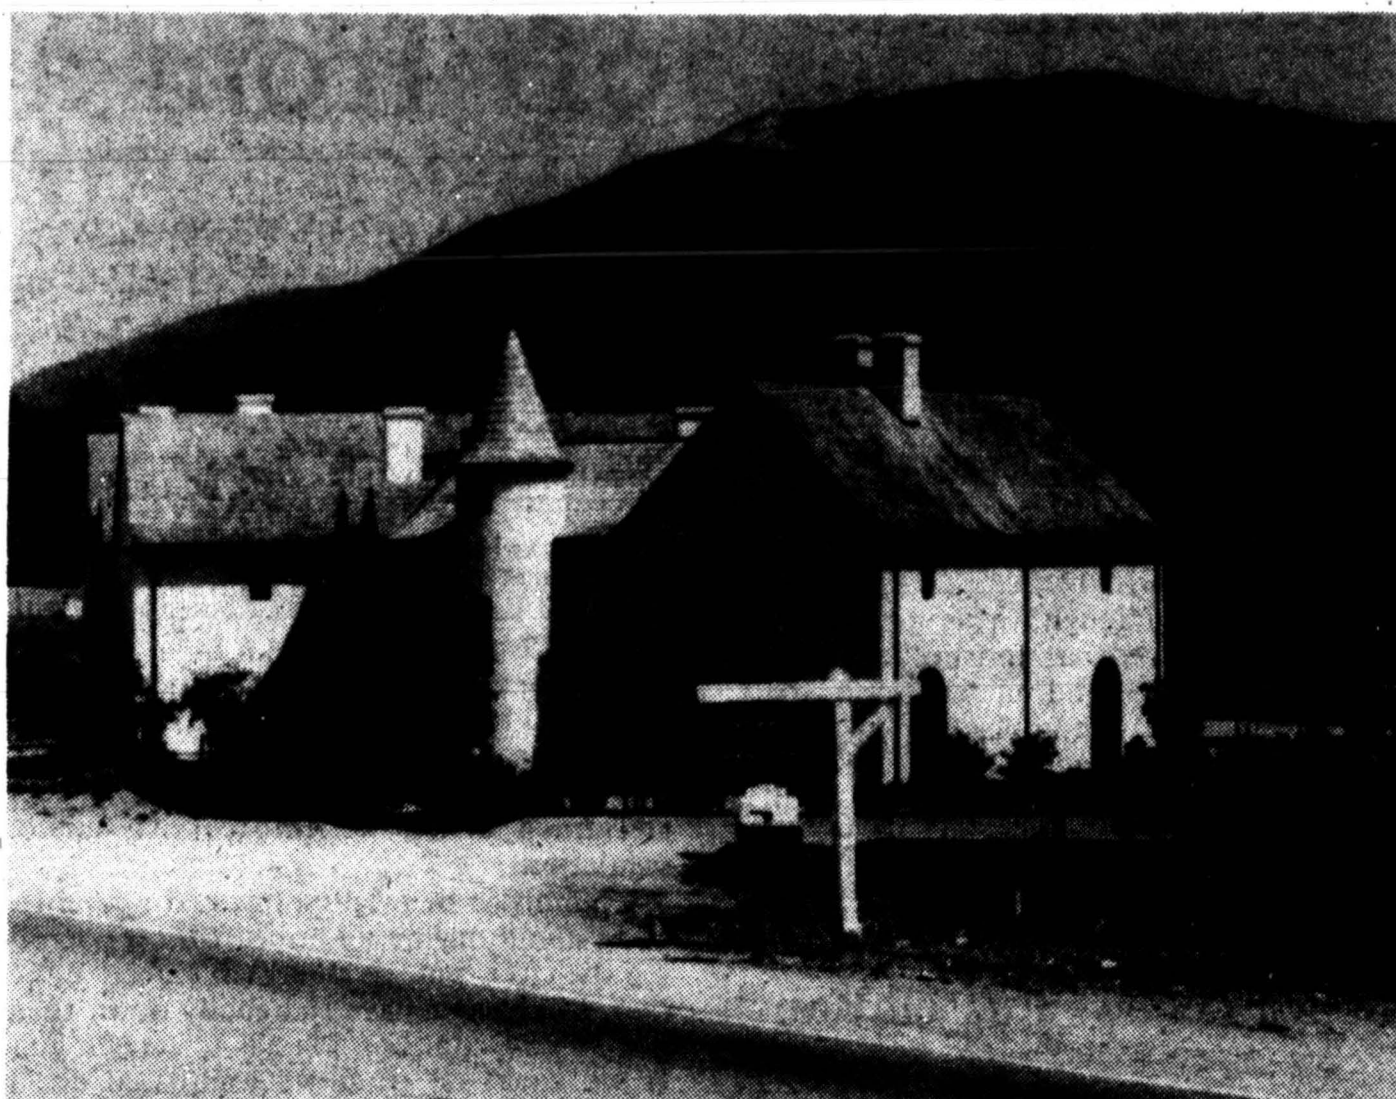

Richard Lindquist, senior civil engineer with the Monterey County Department of Public Works, told CVPOA directors some $45,000 in federal hazard elimination funds have been obtained by the county to remove 13 trees along Carmel Valley Road to reduce traffic hazards.

Lindquist said his department has been concerned for the last five to 10 years about fixed objects along the roadway. Over the heaviest traveled sections of Carmel Valley Road, most of the accidents have involved run-off-the road types of mishaps involving one vehicle and a fixed object — trees.

Thirty-six single-car accidents were used as a basis for a county study. Nine of these involved trees. The department developed from the study a uniform criterion of trying to get a six-foot clearance between the edge of the travel lane and any fixed object, Lindquist said. This criterion was necessary in order to apply for federal funds to help finance the project.

Federal hazard elimination funds were granted in the amount of $45,000 with a matching local grant of $5,000. With these monies, a total of 13 trees will be removed along the roadway, he told CVPOA directors.

But federal funds are not available for the $2.7 million Carmel Valley Overview Project

OPERATING procedures of the Chateau Julien Winery on Carmel Valley Road (above) and their conformity with conditions discussed at length by Bruce Moore, executive director of the Monterey County Housing Authority. The project began when a large area of land in Carmel Valley was given to the county by actors Clint Eastwood and James Garner, with the only stipulation that the land be used for the development of low-income housing for senior citizens. The project has been re-evaluated as made of a Monterey County use permit were subject of discussion by directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

available for the proposed project.

Moore has proposed a project for seniors of moderate income, which if carefully structured can probably consist of a mix of low-income and moderate-income seniors, he said.

The complex for moderate-income seniors would be self-supporting with as many as possible of the units rented to seniors of low income. The present proposal includes structuring the complex as either a condominium or planned unit development at lowest possible cost, Moore said.

This method would protect this purchasing power of the buyers and prevent windfall profits, Moore told CVPOA directors.

A market survey by a consultant commissioned by the housing authority revealed that if the needs of this clientele are to be met, 15 percent of the units should be one-bedroom of approximately 560 square feet; 25 percent of the units should be one-bedroom plus a den with a total of 735 square feet; 25 percent of the units should be two-bedroom, two bath of about 1,000 square feet and the remaining 35 percent should be two-bedroom, two bathroom and den with approximately 1,150 square feet of space.

Respondents to the survey indicated a strong need for units without stairs and with attached garages and storage areas. Each unit also would contain kitchen, patio, carpeting, drapes, and kitchen appliances, Moore said.

Details of financing for the project have not been defined. Choices include builder bonds and buy-down arrangements under which interest rates to the borrowers can be reduced. Additional costs to the residents can be reduced by the authority's borrowing power at interest rates exempt from both federal and state taxes.

Moore emphasized that there is still much work to be done to address financial, environmental and planning issues associated with this type of development. To this end, advice and support from community groups and concerned citizens is needed to assure that the Carmel Valley Overview meets not only the needs of its senior citizens but also the needs of the community at large, he said.

The meeting closed with general support for the use permit application of Stonepine, the former Russell Ranch Estate just east of Carmel Village, that has been refurbished with 12 guest rooms for use by visitors who want to use the horse facilities as a vacation retreat. There was much praise for the restoration job and just as much discontent expressed for Chateau Julien's operation.

The lighting at the Chateau Julien winery was likened to that of an airport runway or a Carmel version of Disneyland. CVPA directors questioned the refusal by the owner of the winery to apply to Monterey County to change the use permit to encompass the types of uses now in effect there.

THE UNITS could be sold for an average of $35,000 less than their fair market value. Any resales would be subject to controls allowing the owners to resell their units only to the housing authority or to buyers selected by the housing authority for the prices they paid plus a factor for inflation.

Spring horse show planned in Carmel Valley

Twenty-six English and 36 western classes are scheduled to compete in the 30th annual Spring Horse Show presented by the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club.

Entrants from Paso Robles to Los Altos are expected to participate in the show, set to begin 8 a.m. Saturday, March 23 on the club grounds, East Garzas Road, Carmel Valley.

The snack and beverage bar will be open, as will the picnic grounds. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Carmel Valley riders get honors in equestrian events around state

Cassie Griffith of Carmel Valley was named show champion children's hunter age 13 and under at the Novato Equestrians Spring Horse Show March 1 through 3 in Santa Rosa.

Riding Curtain Call owned by Dana Bridge, Cassie received the show championship after placing first, second and third in qualifying rounds. She also won seconds in both the Onondarka medal competition and in equitation age 11, and placed fourth in children's hunters under saddle, age 13 and under.

Other Carmel Valley riders who won ribbons included Kelly Kurz, Dana Bridge, Terry Stumbaugh and Patty Stumbaugh. All have been in training with Michelle Rush, who recently was named hunter-jumper trainer for the Pebble Beach Equestrian Center.

Kelly Kurz, riding Suspended Animation, placed second in the California Professional Horsemen's Association medal event and took seconds in both the junior hunter and the equitation over fences classes for age 15 to 17. She also placed third in junior hunters, fourth in junior hunters under saddle, and seventh in the equitation stake, all age 15 to 17.

Dana Bridge, riding Softly Spoken owned by Rushwood, placed fifth in the Nor Cal Medal competition and took third in junior hunters under saddle age 15 to 17. She also won sixths in both equitation and junior hunters age 15 to 17.

Terry Stumbaugh, riding her hunter Haiku, received a fourth in children's hunters age 13 and under, took fifth in equitation age 11, and placed sixth in equitation over fences age 13 and under. Patty Stumbaugh, riding Dragon Wings, placed sixth in children's hunters age 13 and under.

Pod of killer whales spotted off Carmel, Point Lobos Sunday

A POD of killer whales was spotted off Carmel Sunday, according to Alan Baldrige, assistant director of the Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove.

"We received two reports, at 2 p.m. and 2:15 p.m., of killer whales very close to the beach," Baldrige told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook.

One report came from Henry Mollet, a guide at the Monterey Bay Aquarium, who said he spotted "one large male and perhaps five other animals" off Carmel River State Beach, Baldrige said.

The other observer was Mary Beach, a docent at Point Lobos State Reserve, who reported seeing "three whales for at least a half hour along the north shore of Point Lobos," he related.

"There were reports of grey whales in the vicinity," Baldrige said. "They took evasive action and hid out near the kelp beds. The killer whales were porpoising — which means they were swimming strongly with a lot of white water."

"There was foraging type behavior, so my guess is they came in for food. Killer whales don't have a clear migratory pattern here," Baldrige added.

Killer whales typically hunt in large packs and prey upon large fish, seals and whales.

Health fair scheduled Saturday at hospital

Five Monterey Peninsula mayors — including Carmel Mayor Charlotte Townsend — and a Monterey city council member will attend a health fair to be given at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula Saturday, March 23, in honor of Community Health Day.

March 23 has been designated Community Health Day by each city on the peninsula in an effort to raise community awareness about the availability of local health resources.

Free screenings at the health fair will include those for glaucoma, oral cancer, pediatric dental, blood pressure, blood glucose, carbon monoxide levels, lung capacity, podiatry, hearing and scoliosis.

In addition to the 13 non-profit organizations and agencies represented at the health fair, there will be 13 hospital services, with other health care professionals such as physicians, podiatrists and dentists.

"We hope to provide the kind of information on prevention and wellness that will help the community to think healthy," Dr. Lehr said.

The health fair will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Community Hospital on Holman Highway. It is free and open to the public. For more information, phone 625-4505.

Library expansion called a threat to business

The city has said it will construct between 20 and 50 spaces on the northwest corner of Lincoln Street and Sixth Avenue.

Nine Lincoln Street frontage parking spaces would be removed.

However, the city has said that closure of Lincoln Street will result in only five lost parking spaces because four spaces will be gained with additional room for parking at the closed and curbed intersections of Ocean Avenue and Lincoln Street, and Sixth Avenue and Lincoln Street.

The EIR continues: "Additional impacts would result from the physical extension of the library regarding the blockage of the Lincoln Street throughfare.

"Access to the areas north of Ocean, along Lincoln, takes different forms and will be affected by the project in different ways.

"Vehicle access would be precluded. Pedestrian access could be enhanced. If the walkway were landscaped attractively and visual access to areas north of the site were available, pedestrian activity could increase.

"The expansion might, however, have a detrimental effect upon evening shoppers, as many prefer open, well-lit passageways.

"Often night-time window shoppers return the following day to make a purchase; this type of shopping might be hindered in the project vicinity," according to the report.

The shoppers could be lured through the walkway by extensive lighting, heavy and attractive landscaping and directory signs for businesses, the environmental impact report suggests.

In its documentation of potential traffic problems, the report quotes a previously-released circulation study prepared by Joseph Holland, a consulting traffic engineer based in Sacramento.

Based on Holland's study, the EIR lists these "pertinent conclusions:"

- "The proposed street closure will not result in drastically changed peak hour traffic volumes or conditions at vicinity intersections for either the typical or seasonal weekend traffic volume levels.

- "The closure of the street will result in slightly increased congestion levels at some intersections, slightly reduced congestion levels at other intersections and unchanged conditions at still other intersections.

- "Ultimately, the traffic patterns of diverted traffic will reflect drivers' knowledge of the closure and the initial, comparatively insignificant impacts on traffic conditions at vicinity intersections will be lessened.

"Diversion-related turning movements at the adjacent Ocean Avenue intersections and circuitry of travel will be less for the ultimate travel patterns than for the initial traffic patterns.

- "At the intersections on either end of the section of Lincoln Street to be closed, the potential for conflicts between pedestrians and motor vehicles will be significantly reduced by the elimination of six traffic movements at each intersection.

"At other vicinity locations, the increase in traffic caused by diversion will slightly increase the potential for such conflicts at those locations."

LATER, the EIR states that the ambulance and fire department could lose as much as one minute in emergency response time if there is no vehicle access to the southwest section of town via Lincoln Street between Ocean and Sixth avenues.

The report also delves into the pros and cons of some of the alternatives to the expansion plan.

Alternatives reported range from the original annex idea, to an entirely new library at Sunset Center to simply maintaining the status quo.

The EIR does not establish recommendations for any of the alternatives, but merely outlines the plans and lists some pros and cons for each.

Plans and funding actually had been prepared for the proposal to build an annex on the northwest corner of Lincoln Street and Sixth Avenue.

However, the council raised concerns about the cost of the underground parking garage and appeared reluctant to locate library services in two separate buildings.

"One important aspect of the Lincoln

Street alternative is that the parking level takes advantage of the slope of Sixth Avenue and would scarcely be visible, even from the intersection of Lincoln and Sixth, the EIR states.

"This successful marriage of site and program requirement is a positive characteristic of this scheme."

The alternative also would pose "less severe" impacts on the design and visual characteristics of the Maybeck building, the report continues.

THE ANNEX also would provide additional parking and public restrooms — a "plus," according to the EIR.

But like the council, the consultant found drawbacks to the annex.

"It is in terms of functions that this design shows deficiencies, as essential functions would have to be duplicated," the report states.

Additionally, the EIR estimates it will cost the city about $31,000 more annually to operate the annex as compared to costs of an expansion.

The plan to build an entirely new library at Sunset Center also is the subject of the EIR.

This scheme would be more cost-effective and also provide library services in a less congested area of town, the report states.

However, the public has twice rejected the new library scheme at the polls.

Expansion without closure of Lincoln Street has been suggested in the past. This includes adding a story, undergrounding for more space, expansion onto the garden area that now fronts Ocean Avenue, or taking over the shops to the east for more room.

But the EIR is reluctant to support those ideas.

"The expansion toward Ocean Avenue would result in a less pleasing area for visitors, possibly to the detriment of local businesses. Expansion eastward would result in hardship to businesses displaced and a resultant decrease in the tax base of the city."

'Prelude' music magazine to bow

PRELUDE, a major new monthly magazine devoted to classical music and the arts in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties, will debut in September.

Publishers of the new magazine are a group consisting of Albert M. Eisner, Scott MacClelland and Brown & Wilson, Inc., publishers of the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook and Monterey Peninsula Review.

Eisner, who was publisher of the Pine Cone, Outlook and Review, sold the three weekly newspapers in October of 1982. MacClelland is program director of KBOQ-FM, the classical music station based in Marina. He has resigned that position effective April 15 to take up his duties at Prelude.

Prelude will contain listings, articles, features and advertising to provide an in-depth look at the musical life of the Monterey Bay area. A feature of the new magazine will be detailed program listings and highlights of FM stations that broadcast classical music into the area directly or by cable. Among these stations are KQED-FM, KKHI-FM and KDFC-FM from San Francisco; KBOQ-FM, Marina; and KUSP-FM, Santa Cruz.

In addition, Prelude will contain music reviews, book and record reviews, a calendar of coming events, interviews with persons making news in the area, and feature articles and photographs highlighting musical events during the current month.

It will be printed in the standard 8 1/2-by-11 magazine format on high quality paper and a four-color cover on coated stock.

Members of the dozens of musical organizations that function in the two counties will receive Prelude in the mail each month free of charge. A minimum of 10,000 copies will be distributed the way.

Among the organizations invited to provide lists of subscribers are the Monterey County and Santa Cruz County Symphony Orchestras; the Carmel Bach Festival; the Carmel Music Society; the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society; Hidden Valley Music Seminars; Sunset Cultural Center; Monterey Peninsula Concert Association; Salinas Concert Association; Cabrillo Festival; Monterey Peninsula College; Hartnell College; and others.

Eisner, 54, is a native of New York City. He held positions in the advertising and publishing fields before he came to California 20 years ago. After a stint as an advertising representative for the Los Angeles Times, he brought his family to the Monterey Peninsula in 1969, and worked for the Pine Cone and Outlook before he started the weekly Monterey Peninsula Review in 1973. In 1977, he and his wife Judith bought the Pine Cone and the Outlook.

MacClelland, 43, has 20 years of experience as a classical music broadcaster and journalist.

He came to the Monterey Peninsula in 1972 as classical music director of KWAV-FM, and was host of the two-hour "Masters Concert" five nights a week until the end of 1981. He was the founding program director for KBOQ-FM which started in April of 1982.

An advisory board made up of leaders in the arts, business, education, communications and related fields is being formed to provide guidance to the publishers of Prelude. Among the persons who have accepted positions on the advisory board are Troy Bramlett, President, Monterey County Board of Education; Don Freeman, President, Board of Governors, Monterey Peninsula College; Lou Harrison, Composer, Aptos; Alan Hovhaness, Composer, Seattle; Sam Karas, Monterey County Supervisor, 4th District; Katie Clare Mazzeo, Chairman, Music Department, Santa Catalina School.

Also, Clyde Roberson, Mayor, Monterey; Karen Sinsheimer, President, Friends of the Arts, UC Santa Cruz; Max Tadlock, President, Monterey Peninsula College; Richard Tyler, Director Community and Cultural Affairs, City of Carmel; and Saul Weingarten, attorney, Seaside.

Editorial and advertising offices for Prelude have been established on Ocean Avenue in Carmel, near Mission Street. Production will be across the street at the Pine Cone office. Mailing address for Prelude is Box 866, Carmel, Calif. 93921. Phone numbers are (408) 624-9100 and (408) 458-0211.

Trustees to discuss recall, overcrowding

By MICHAEL GARDNER

EVERYTHING from the recall election to the Carmel High School closed campus will be discussed by administrative staff and the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education in the next few days.

The meetings all will be in the Carmel Middle School library, south side of Carmel Valley Road about one mile east of Highway 1.

Interim Supt. Rich Hawkins released some good news this week: only one rather than the earlier anticipated several middle-school teachers faces layoff.

The meetings are:

- An open session for Tularcitos School and River School parents to discuss overcrowded conditions and possible solutions conducted by the principals and Hawkins at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 21.

- A school board session at 9 a.m. Friday, March 22 to schedule the date of a special election to determine whether Trustees Susan Bromfield, James Yates and Robert Fenton should be recalled.

- The regular board meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, March 25, when trustees will discuss the closed high school campus, a report from the foreign language committee and recommended changes to the course of study at the high school.

Earlier fears that the district may have to lay off several teachers evaporated after Hawkins conducted an analysis of staff needs and retirements.

Hawkins told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook March 18 that the district has issued only one tentative layoff notice to a part-time teacher.

And if there are other retirements or leaves of absences announced, the teacher could be recalled to work next fall, Hawkins said.

"My hope is to get it down to zero (layoffs) by May 15. We may be able to do that," he said.

The announcement of layoffs was made by trustees March 1 after they decided to eliminate the seven-period day at the middle school, which is expected to save the fiscally-crunched district about $75,000.

The savings is earmarked for staff pay increases.

Hawkins did have to do some juggling of staff. An industrial arts teacher and music instructor at the middle school will split their duties next fall between the middle and high school campuses.

TEACHERS BY state law must be notified by March 15 of an impending layoff. A final notice of termination is required by May 15.

Hawkins said he still needs to juggle staff before school opens in the fall.

He expects to move two middle school teachers to elementary assignments and split a few other teacher positions between the middle and high schools, probably in the language arts and social studies programs.

Meanwhile, with enough verified signatures on recall petitions confirmed, the school board March 22 is expected to schedule the election.

Yates, Bromfield and Fenton are targets of the recall campaign, which was initiated after Supt. William Rand resigned Oct. 8. Trustees Doyle Clayton and Pat Condren are not subjects of the drive.

The earliest trustees can schedule the election is 88 days from receipt of the petitions verified by the Monterey County Elections Office. The latest is 125 days after acceptance.

Trustees have 14 days from March 22 to order the special recall election, Hawkins said.

If trustees order the election March 22, the earliest date is June 18 and the latest would be July 23.

If trustees wait two weeks until April 5, the

WHEN THE Carmel Unified School District Board of Education announced in November of 1983 that the high school campus would be closed at lunch the following fall, Principal Marsha Kading-Kelly had the task of meeting election is to be scheduled between July 2 and Aug. 6. Elections must be on a Tuesday, Hawkins said.

Cost of the election, which must be paid by the district, is estimated at $25,000. The seats held by Yates and Clayton are up for election in November.

Monterey County Registrar of Voters Ross Underwood — after a signature by signature check — announced March 13 that the recall committee had obtained enough signatures to force the election.

The committee needed 3,463 signatures on petitions to recall each individual trustee.

Of the 4,214 signatures on Bromfield's petitions, 3,627 were validated. Signatures to recall Fenton totalled 4,167 and 3,641 were legal registered voters. And of the 4,187 signatures to oust Yates, 3,627 were found valid.

Trustees have a variety of agenda items before them at their March 25 regular meeting.

One of the more controversial actions taken by the board — the closed campus at the high school — will be discussed by Assistant Principal Joe Feldeisen.

with a standing-room only crowd to explain the new policy. An update on the closed campus policy is to be presented to trustees March 25. (Michael Gardner photo.)

The board in November of 1983 ordered the campus closed effective in September of 1984.

THE PURPOSE of the discussion is just to update trustees. No action is to be taken.

Feldeisen told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook that the major problem he faces is staffing at lunch.

By contract, teachers are given a 30-minute duty-free lunch period and thus are unavailable to help police the campus.

And a search for a one-hour aide at about $6 an hour thus far has been fruitless, Feldeisen said.

And only one of the three high school counselors works full time and is available daily to help out, he added.

Thus, Feldeisen, principal Marsha Kading-Kelly and counselor Louis Tanous are in charge of the daily policing of the entire campus at lunch, he said.

Since most of the 850 students don't try to leave, but do need lunchtime supervision, it is difficult to constantly watch the campus for those students who sneak off at lunch, Feldeisen said.

Library trustees to match Friends' funds

The Harrison Memorial Library Board of Trustees has voted to "match" funds supplied by the Friends of the Library for a library detection system.

The system will alert library personnel whenever unchecked-out library materials are taken from the building.

"Through this cooperative effort the Friends of the Library and the Board of Trustees are working to insure that popular library materials remain available to our community," said Library Director Margaret Pelikan. The library staff expects the theft detection system to be installed this summer.

Other new library equipment to arrive this summer includes hardware for a computerized circulation system. In addition to providing speedier checkout of library materials, the system will tell what books are available on the shelf, what books are on order and when requested books are due back. The system also will automatically generate overdue and reserve book notices.

All hardware to support the system will be installed at the Harrison Memorial Library in Carmel. Some construction and installation activity will take place in the next few months in order to prepare the building for the system.

Panetta accepts applications

Congressman Leon Panetta (D-Carmel Valley) is accepting applications for the annual Congressional senior intern program in Washington, D.C.

The internship is open to citizens age 60 and above who are involved in providing services and activities for the elderly. Only one applicant from the 16th Congressional District will be chosen for the program, which lasts from May 20 to May 24.

Round-trip travel costs must be met by the program participant, but a stipend will be offered to cover lodging and other expenses while in Washington.

"Participants in the senior intern program will be able to study the legislative and administrative process up close," Panetta said. "Through seminars and speakers representing Congressional committees, federal agencies and private organizations, the interns will learn about a wide array of programs related to aging and the elderly."

Those who wish to apply for the internship should write to Congressman Panetta.

Panetta's address is 339 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515. The application deadline is March 22.

Quit smoking class set in Valley

An eight-session quit smoking program begins April 2 at the Carmel Valley Women's Resource Center, Pilot Road, Carmel Valley.

The program is sponsored by the Monterey County Health Department Risk Reduction Services. It will meet from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. To register, call the health department, 373-1667, or the resource center, 659-3445.

Carmel Foundation plans Roaring '20s social event

THE CARMEL Foundation's second annual "Roaring '20s Ice-Cream Social" fund-raiser will be presented three weekends in April, beginning at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, April 13 and repeating April 14, 20, and 21 at Diment Hall, corner of Eighth Avenue and Lincoln Street in Carmel.

The final performance, recognizing the 35th year of Foundation service to older citizens of Carmel and the peninsula, will be presented by the city of Carmel and the Carmel Foundation in Sunset Auditorium at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 28. Donations for the Diment Hall performances are $3 but since ice cream cannot be served at the Sunset Center performance, the donations there will be $2.

Tickets will be available to the public at the Carmel Foundation, Monday, April 1. Tickets for the Sunset Center performance will be available at the door at the time of the performance. Smoking cannot be permitted at any of the performances.

The fall performances of the Gay '90s Revue netted the Foundation more than $1,300, which was applied to the mortgage on the care facility owned and operated by the Foundation for the frail elderly.

AUCTION BENEFITS RIVER SCHOOL

"A Glowing Affair," an annual fund-raising event by the Parent Teacher Association of Carmel River School, will be from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, March 23 at the Carmel Woman's Club, San Carlos Street and Ninth Avenue, Carmel. Admission is free.

The evening, which features a live and silent auction of goods and services donated by area businesses and residents, benefits programs at the only public elementary school in Carmel. In many cases, funds raised by the P.T.A. group make possible supplementary programs which are no longer provided under current budget restrictions.

Festivities at the candlelight affair will begin with a no-host bar and complimentary hors d'oeuvres, as participants view and bid on items included in the silent auction. A program of live musical entertainment is planned. At 7:30 p.m., the live auction is set to begin.

More than 100 items have been donated for bidding. Among them are a computer, yachting excursions, weekend stays in vacation homes elsewhere in the state, a complete lodging and meal package from Ventana Resort in Big Sur, and meals at a number of local restaurants, including La Playa, Hammerhead's, The Point and the Sardine Factory.

Also available are cases of wine from vineyards throughout the county, a complete tennis package from Andy Bryant's pro shop in Pebble Beach, and a number of pieces of jewelry and artwork.

The public is invited to attend the event, and additional contributions are welcome. For additional information, contact Janet Gendelman through the Carmel River School P.T.A. (624-1546).

CARMEL MIDDLE SCHOOL SELLS CHOCOLATE EASTER BUNNIES

The eighth grade of Carmel Middle School is selling solid chocolate Easter bunnies made by the World's Finest Chocolates Co. as a fund-raiser for graduation activities and other programs.

The nine-inch, six-ounce bunnies sell for $3 each, of which the eighth grade receives half for each bunny sold. To place an order, please contact the Carmel Middle School office at 624-2785. Pickup of the bunnies should be arranged no later than March 28.

WHALEBONE SOUP? BLUBBER PUDDING?

An igloo on Ocean Avenue? In the garden of the Harrison Memorial Library? Carmel photographer and restaurant reviewer John Livingstone would like to see the first of a nation-wide chain of Eskimo restaurants located in downtown Carmel.

JOHN LIVINGSTONE is finding it tough sledding finding a location for his Igloo Restaurant. (Genuine Eskimo wolverine and caribou parka courtesy of Arctic Bay Trading Co., The Crossroads.)

"I have assured the planning commission that Carmel needs a 24-hour restaurant (Eskimos have no fixed mealtimes) which will cater to the most sophisticated palate. I already have hired a superb Eskimo chef to prepare such delicacies as whalebone soup, roast rack of harbor seal, iceberg lettuce salad, penguin pie and blubber puddings," Livingstone said.

"The menu will be printed in Eskimo with English subtitles. The chef — Newt, the Aleut — is on his way here to speak to the planning commission. Such a unique restaurant will undoubtedly draw as many visitors as the aquarium.

"It's the sort of restaurant that almost everyone will want to try once. So far, members of the planning commission have turned me down cold. I just can't seem to cut any ice with them."

One of the many problems facing Livingstone should he be granted permission to open his restaurant will be how to dispose of the whale bones.

"A nation that can put a man on the moon should be able to come up with a solution to this problem within the next 10 years," said the would-be restaurateur. One other problem he has already solved: what to include on the menu for the patron who won't try anything new. "Offer him cold turkey," Livingstone said.

LEGION SPONSORS SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

Members of the senior classes at Carmel High School and Robert Louis Stevenson School are invited to participate in the competition for a four-year scholarship valued at $2,000 offered by Carmel Post 512 of the American Legion.

Candidates for the award must submit the following material to Carmel Post 512, P.O. Box 512, Carmel, Calif. 93921 before April 30 to be considered:

- An essay of more than 800 words on a patriotic theme. The 1985 theme is "My Idea of a Good Citizen."
- A letter of recommendation from the school principal.
- A copy of the S.A.T. score, or related equivalent.

The winning candidate will be selected on a "best-qualified" basis. In the event of a tie, the candidate least-qualified financially will be given the award. Bonus points toward selection will be given candidates who are dependents of American Legion members, or of persons eligible for Legion membership.

Candidates must be prepared to enroll in a field leading to public service (e.g., education, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, law, journalism, military or naval science) or a related field approved by the scholarship committee.

The award will be paid to the college of the winner's choice, but only upon receipt of notice of the student's matriculation. Any unexpended funds are to be returned to Post 512 by the college in the event of the candidate's failure to complete studies, failure to pursue a proper course of study, or failure to pursue "a proper course of individual conduct," according to a Legion spokesman.

DEANNA ADOLPH ELECTED CHAIRWOMAN OF MONTEREY COUNTY HOUSING COUNCIL

Deanna R. Adolph of Carmel, assistant vice president of the Bank of America in Monterey, has been elected chairwoman of the Monterey County Housing Council for 1985-86.

The Monterey County Housing Council is an organization whose purpose is to study, educate and advocate for housing needs in Monterey County.

Adolph has been active in community affairs since she moved to Monterey County in 1972. She has served on the board of the Family Service Agency, the March of Dimes, Monterey Peninsula Hospital (Annual Support Committee), Leadership — Monterey Peninsula and United Way. She is a past president of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce (1982), belongs to Soroptimist International, and was the finance chairwoman of the Monterey Bay Council of Boy Scouts in 1981.

WELLESLEY CLUB BOOK SALE

It's spring and time for another Bargains in Books Sale sponsored by the Monterey Bay Wellesley Club from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 23.

On Sunday, March 24 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., books will be half-price. Location of the sale is the Carmel Middle School cafeteria on Carmel Valley Road, one-half mile from Highway 1.

In addition to more than 30 categories, the sale this year features an unusually large category of children's books. Subcategories include books on American Indians, ships, astronomy, seismology, birds and China. The reference section has books in a number of foreign languages.

Proceeds from the sale benefit the Barbara Bell Thomson Memorial Scholarship Fund.

CARMEL TWIRLER WINS HONORS

Cindy Nichiguchi of Carmel is one member of the Monterey Majestics — competition team of the Dance and Twirl Club — which took first place in the small dance and twirl competition in Cupertino March 9.

Cindy also received a first place recognition in advanced basic 12-plus.

The team and girls are coached by Pam Russell; Jenny England is director of the Dance and Twirl Club.

BUSINESS BEAT BY NANCY HILLS

Businesses sigh with relief

MANY a business owner breathed a sigh of relief when the night operating hours ordinance passed by the Carmel City Council was rescinded.

But this might not be the last anyone hears of city restrictions on closing hours.

Although the council dropped the urgency ordinance, it still plans to continue to study the problem. If they feel the results of the study warrant it, the city council can pass an ordinance that restricts hours of operation and amortize restriction so that eventually it incorporates businesses that already have a use permit or business license, according to City Atty. Don Freeman.

Amortizing, or phasing in the restriction, gives the business a specified time to comply with the new laws and adjust to the change, but the business must still eventually comply.

FILLING GAPS IN CARMEL PLAZA

It is generally considered not to be good for business in a shopping center or mall to have shoppers confronted with large empty stores.

Carmel Plaza has had to face this problem since Joseph Magnin's filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 last Sept. 15. That left the plaza with 14,300 sq. ft. of empty store tied up in a lease as the long legal proceedings continued.

Steven Jacobs, leasing manager, said the plaza filed a motion Feb. 15 that requires Joseph Magnin's to adopt or reject the lease by April 1. By law, Magnin's has 45 days to make the decision. If it decides to reject, the lease will revert to the plaza which then can proceed in the task of finding a suitable tenant for the two-story retail space.

"We are hoping to put in a major women's clothing store," Jacobs said. He would not say if he had a tenant already in mind.

Pasta wagon

DOUGLAS STEVENS, owner of the Pasta Palate, is shown here with a 1937 Ford pasta delivery truck. He might need the vehicle if he tries to find his fresh pasta shop on Dolores Street, where the Business Beat put it in last week's column. The Pasta Palate can be found in the rear of the Stonehouse Terrace, one block east of Dolores Street on San Carlos Street and Seventh Avenue. (Mike Gardner photo.)

Magnin's might want to keep the lease to sell it or sublet it for a profit since it is an older lease dating back to April of 1974, Jacobs said. He explained that Magnin's had applied for a Chapter 11, which is a reorganization, because it retained the Gucci franchise in the western United States which was still a moneymaker.

"The creditors will be paid," Jacobs added.

The store has been paying on the current lease, Jacobs said.

MAGNIN'S MAY HAVE EXPANSION OPTION

A check on the rumor that I. Magnin's has an option to expand into the Books, Inc. store area was confirmed by Jacobs but denied by Books, Inc. owner Lewis Lengfeld. Magnin's, Jacobs said, could decide in August whether it wants the space that would take up the east half of the lower-level bookstore.

"We understand Magnin's is going to exercise their right — if the city approves — in August," Jacobs said. "We are hoping if Magnin's expands that Books, Inc. will stay in Carmel. There may be some compromise — Magnin's would take less space or something — that we could come up with."

I. Magnin's has had the option, Jacobs said, since it signed the lease in 1960 when the plaza first opened. Books, Inc. signed its lease in April 1974 and Jacobs said the store is aware of Magnin's option.

Lengfeld said that taking over another store is a favorite tactic of Magnin's and that the retail outlet does not have any option.

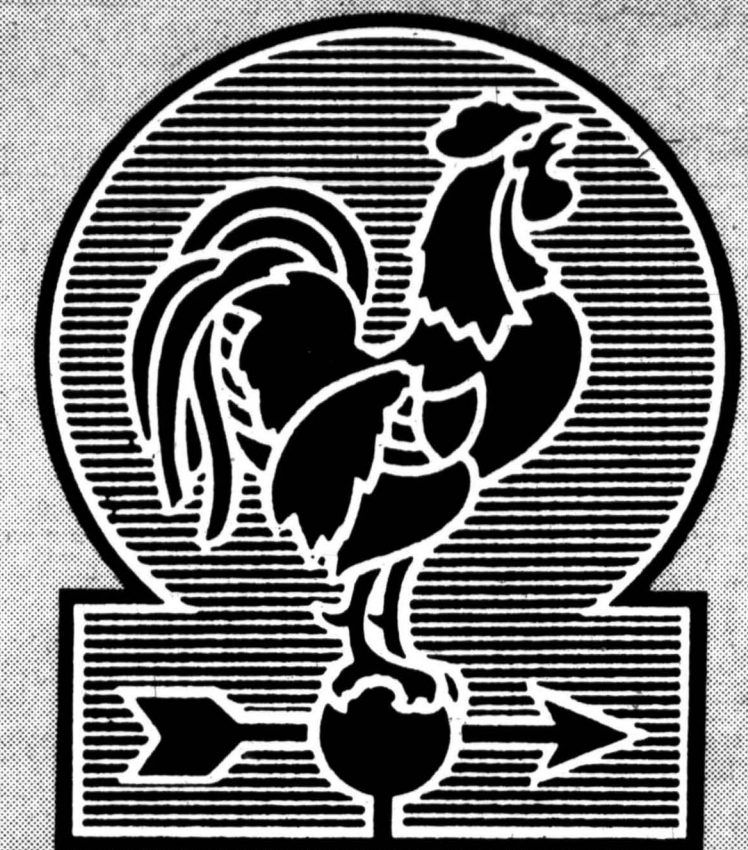

"They are trying to do it (take over the space) but nobody wants to let them do it. They (Magnin's) don't need the space. It is just to give them a wider, lower entrance," Lengfeld said.

"It would eliminate our westside entrance (the main entrance onto the lower level of the plaza). We cannot expand the other entrance because of water pipes or something necessary for the building is there. It would destroy the store."

If Magnin's is able to take over the space, Lengfeld said, he would relocate the store to "Ocean Avenue or even outside of Carmel."

"The store (Books, Inc.) is an institution in Carmel," Lengfeld said. "My family has been on the peninsula since 1851 when my grandfather came out here from New Orleans."

and at 135 years old, Books, Inc. is the oldest retail business in California according to the governor's list. Magnin's (which is owned by Federated Department Stores based in Denver) is not even a California store any more."

Lengfeld said his family purchased the business when it was 96 years old and were the ones to expand and market it into the 15 stores in California and Arizona it is now. Books, Inc. is known by the name Hunter Books in southern California.

Magnin's would not make any comment, as the store controller, Jerry Sullivan, was on vacation.

PLAZA CAFE HAS A NEW CHEF

The Plaza Cafe has a new chef, Richard Vaughan, who has come from the Hyatt Hotels on the East Coast.

Plaza Cafe manager Ken Spilfogel said that Vaughan is upgrading the dinner and lunch menu and should be done with that task next week.

"We have already upgraded the breakfast menu - such as our new waffles and pancakes for which we now import the flour," Spilfogel said. "I think that we now have the best breakfast and value in Carmel."

KEEPING UP WITH THE CROSSROADS

And now for news of The Crossroads. It is getting difficult to keep track of all the new shops going in.

Mentioned in previous columns as coming to The Crossroads, Mostly for Men is going to open March 31, according to part-owner Michelle Cole. Cole owns the shop with her husband Richard.

"The shop will have unique and useful non-apparel items geared to the interest and personality of all kinds of lifestyles," Cole said. "We will have a broad range of both innovative and classic merchandise for all ages."

Some of the "innovative and classic merchandise" Cole said includes limited edition and one-of-a-kind art, wooden and porcelain sculptures for the home or office, barbecue equipment, sports-oriented products and books, leather goods, desk accessories and electronic high-tech gadgets.

The latter include such items as a telephone answering machine that automatically puts on the date and time and a "sleeper beeper" for behind the ear, to wake a nodding driver. The shop will have JAZ watches from Paris, which Cole said are "high style - haute couture." (We both had a good time pronouncing and spelling that one.) Mostly for Men will also carry personal care, such as razors and fragrances, from England and France.

"Mostly" means that it is not only for men," Cole added. "We will have items for ladies, too."

Just in case there are not enough things in this world to tempt us, Jeff Weeks, the owner of the Woodcarver in The Crossroads, is hoping to open his Sweet William Chocolate Company on April 1.

"It will have mainly special handmade German and Belgian chocolates," Weeks said. "We will also have espresso, cappuccino and coffees to sit and have a treat with." Weeks said the shop will have small tables both inside and outside.

Handmade means handmade to Weeks, whose chocolates will be made by European chocolate maker Gerard Rosenstein, who arrived here from Eupen, Belgium a year ago.

"He uses absolutely the finest ingredients, the best cocoa," Weeks said. "It is all done completely by hand."

The coffees will all be freshly ground when ordered, Weeks said, and the shop will offer at "least a dozen different specialty drinks as well as the regular coffee."

The shop will carry some prepackaged chocolates, Weeks added. He, however, will be managing the Woodcarver and Christine Heycke will be left to resist the temptation as the manager of the Sweet William.

Signs are up for the move of the Bugaboo Store and Stitch It from The Barnyard into The Crossroads. Word has it that Stitch It wants to be in by April 1 and that Bugaboo will make the move in July.

NEW OWNERS IN MID-VALLEY

The Mid-Valley Shopping Center has some new owners and new shops of its own coming.

First item on the agenda is that Mid-Valley Hardware is changing its name to Acorn Hardware. Same place, new name and new owner - Karl Krueger.

Mid-Valley Gardens changes ownership April 1. Owner Jean Kaeser is moving to San Diego with her transferred Navy captain husband.

"I am going to miss the unique atmosphere here," Kaeser said. "You get to know everybody."

Kaeser said that the new owner, Mildred Lewellen, plans to continue to operate the plant shop that sells, rents and maintains plants for homes and businesses much the same way it has been in the past. The shop also does floral arrangements.

"I will stay with her for a while in April to introduce her to my customers," Kaeser said.

The Aquarium and Tropical Fish store has moved its operation from Mid-Valley closer to home. A lot closer - like right in it. Robert Womack, owner of the fish shop, said that he and his wife, Melissa, plan to go on selling and servicing the hobbyists in the area from their home while they look around for another location.

"We are keeping the name of the shop and the same phone number," Womack said.

The aquarium shop is scheduled to be replaced shortly by a video store.

OBITUARIES

Lucille van Eeghen

A memorial service was scheduled at 11 a.m. Friday, March 22 at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel for Lucille van Eeghen, a Carmel resident for more than 50 years, who died March 14. She was 88.

Born Oct. 16, 1896 in England, she came to the United States and lived in Texas. In 1929 she married the English-born writer, Reginald Hendrik van Eeghen and they moved to Carmel in 1935.

After her husband's death in 1936, she continued to live in Carmel until she moved to a nursing home in Monterey in Dec. of 1982.

Although she was still a British subject, she served with the WAC in the U.S. Army during World War II. She later became a naturalized American citizen.

There are no known survivors. Private cremation is scheduled to take place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea under the direction of the Paul Mortuary.

Born Feb. 13, 1930 in Berkeley, she was a graduate of Santa Rosa High School and St. Mary's Nursing College in San Francisco. She lived in King City from 1953 to 1970 and in Carmel from 1970 to 1979, when she was employed as a dental nurse. She was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church. She and her husband James moved to Whidbey Island in 1979.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Linda Lyn McDonald of Santa Rosa; two sons, Alvin Paul Alvitre Jr. of San Diego and Peter Edward Alvitre of Porterville; a brother, Les Belden of Santa Rosa; and five grandchildren.

At her request, no funeral services were planned. The family suggests memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Ruth Warner Boylen

Private services took place for Ruth Warner Boylen, an artist and longtime resident of Carmel, who died March 4 at Community Hospital.

Born in Burlington, Vt., she lived in Sioux City, Iowa for many years, then spent a brief time in San Francisco before she moved to Carmel in 1953.

She worked in advertising sales for the Sioux City Journal for 10 years, and for the past 20 years she worked at painting in oils in Carmel.

She was a member of the Carmel Presbyterian Church and the Carmel Foundation.

Survivors include her daughter, Rosemary McLeod of Carmel; her sister, Evelyn Larson of Sioux Falls, N.D.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A daughter, Ruth B. Gale, died in 1978.

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the donor's favorite charity.

Mary G. Hansen

Memorial services took place March 9 in the First Presbyterian Church in Exeter (Tulare County) for Mary G. Hansen, a resident of Del Mesa Carmel, who died March 5 in a hospital in Exeter. She was 76.

Born Nov. 24, 1908 in Norway, Maine, she moved to Visalia in 1922. She graduated from the Visalia High School and attended business college. Before her marriage in 1936 to W.C. ("Cal") Hansen, she was society editor at the Visalia Times-Delta.

After their marriage, the couple settled in the Exeter area, then moved to Del Mesa Carmel in Carmel Valley in 1972. She was a painter and a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Exeter and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, William R. Hansen of Irvine; a daughter, Betsy Peterson of Exeter; and three grandchildren.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Evans-Miller Exeter Chapel.

The family suggests memorial contributions to Exeter Memorial Hospital, 215 North Crespi St., Exeter, Calif. 93221 or to the American Cancer Society.

Harper G. Brown

Cremation, followed by scattering of ashes at sea, took place at the Chapel of Seaside for Harper G. Brown of Carmel Valley — philanthropist, poet and teacher who died March 9 at his home. He was 78.

Born Dec. 7, 1906 in Cleburne, Tex., he moved to the Monterey Peninsula in 1960. He taught English and humanities at Wellesley College in Massachusetts, Colby College in Maine, the University of Texas and the Tyler School of Fine Arts at Temple University in Philadelphia.

He was director of personnel for a city planning project in New York, recipient of a grant from the Guggenheim Museum of Art in New York City, research assistant to Nobel Prize winner Dr. Herman Mueller (in genetics), and conducted international research into parapsychology.

His poetry and essays have appeared in British and American magazines and newspapers, including the Manchester Guardian and the Christian Science Monitor, and his philanthropic projects extended from Haiti to his hometown of Cleburne.

He was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Society of Friends and wrote frequently for Quaker publications. He also taught piano, edited books, raised pecans, trained animals, painted portraits and landscapes in various media, played the recorder in an Elizabethan music quartet, was an ordained minister and restored a 17th century thatched cottage in Devon, England.

Survivors include his wife Eve Tartar, and a sister Miriam Keeler of Charleston, N.C.

A memorial reading of his poetry will take place at 2:30 p.m., March 24 at Monterey Peninsula College Choral Room M-10. The family suggests memorial contributions to the Friends of Harper Brown, P.O. Box 486, Carmel Valley, Calif. 93924.

Sanitary board to discuss annexation fees

ANNEXATION fees in the Carmel Sanitary District may be increased when the Board of Directors meets at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, March 21.

The board is to convene in the Crossroads Room, 225 Crossroads Blvd., Carmel.

Manager Michael Zambory has proposed an increase in residential annexation fees from $375 to $550 per acre or residential unit to compensate for increased costs.

Directors also are to review cost over-runs for the sewage plant improvement project. The construction phase of the work will cost $6.7 million, Zambory said.

A $650,000 contract has been signed to cover two-year construction management services with James Montgomery Co., and a $272,300 contract with Kennedy/Jenks Engineers covers design services for construction, Zambory said.

But costs of engineering design services have increased by $130,000 and state water quality control staffers have denied the district request for reimbursement, Zambory told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook. He said he will ask the board for permission to appeal that decision to the State Water Quality Control Board.

In other business, the board is to consider another proposal that inspection fees be increased from $25 to $56.

"You're never too old to become younger."

—Mae West

On average, 30 Americans reach the age of 100 each day. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, in a century we'll have more than 2 million centenarians among our population. At that time, the bureau predicts, more than 25 percent of the nation's people will be 65 years or older.

Pharmacologist Joseph Graedon warns that the most familiar drug in most medicine cabinets, aspirin, can pose serious risks for senior citizens if not taken carefully. As we get older, our metabolism changes and blood flow to the kidneys decreases. That can cause a potentially damaging accumulation of aspirin in an older person's body. Aspirin may also cause stomach bleeding and can create side-effects when combined with other medications. Make sure that your doctor is aware of the amount of aspirin you take.

Citizens Committee wants action on news racks

THE CARMEL Citizens Committee thinks it is about time the council does something about the unsightly downtown news rack blight.

And if newspapers such as USA Today, San Jose Mercury and Monterey Peninsula Herald fail to cooperate then residents should boycott the stands, some committee members believe.

The committee, which consists of about a dozen board members and another 100 residents, plans to write the council and ask that it push ahead with original plans to design news racks and locate them in specific locales.

That request may be considered as early as the April 2 council session.

City hall staffer Bill Hill has under study the design and locations for news racks. Suggested locations have been near the post office and at Devendorf Park.

City Atty. Don Freeman also has under preparation an ordinance to ban the stands once the city provides the locations and designs for the news racks.

Freeman's opinion is that the city cannot arbitrarily prohibit all news racks from public property because of constitutional free speech rights.

But the Carmel Citizens Committee believes the city is moving too slowly on the issue, two members told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook March 15.

Chairman Robert Priestley and board member Ken White said they understand the city has many large projects but that the news rack problem is an easy one to solve quickly.

Both said they have talked to many residents, who think relocation of the news racks from the sidewalks should be a top priority.

"We think the city went the right direction to establish some designated areas. That's probably the very best way it could be solved," Priestley said.

"The priority system is what has failed. We feel the council should move ahead and conclude the issue on a timetable no later than spring," he continued.

"I think it means a lot to the city. It's like having a bunch of junk in your front yard. You should keep your yard clean."

White added: "It's become a focal point because it's right in plain sight. That's a disservice to the residents of Carmel. Newsracks are high visibility."

White said it appears newspaper stands deliberately have mushroomed so the city will have to provide more racks before the stands can be removed from the sidewalks.

"It looks to me like there's a rush to get as many racks on the street as possible so the city has to find a space for them," White said.

"It looks like a blatant attempt to get the numbers."

White and Priestly suggested the committee may call for a boycott of the news racks if the papers do not cooperate.

They suggested that citizens should just buy their newspapers at stores rather than at the stands.

"If things don't improve at all a possible solution is to call for a boycott," White said.

Board of adjustments to review three longstanding applications

IF MEMBERS of the Carmel Board of Adjustments think the March 27 meeting agenda looks familiar, they're absolutely right.

The board will review three major longstanding applications when it meets at 4 p.m. in Carpenter Hall at Sunset Center.

The Little family has submitted an application for a use permit that would allow them to build a 42-room motel, restaurant and office complex at the northeast corner of San Carlos Street and Fifth Avenue.

Currently at the site are the Littles' Carmel Sands motel (also 42 rooms) and Simpson's restaurant and cocktail lounge complex.

The city already has granted the Little family permission to demolish the existing structure contingent on approval of the use permit for the new complex.

The Little family is in the insurance business and plans to use part of the site for their offices.

The board also will review a use permit submitted by Ray Freschi of Pebble Beach for a new commercial and condominium complex on the west side of Junipero Avenue between Sixth and Fifth avenues.

The site formerly housed the San Francisco Federal Savings office, and now temporarily is used by Camp and Morgan Realty and "Pastabilities," a pasta-making business.

The San Francisco Federal Savings Building either is to be demolished or moved.

In addition, the coin shop Blackburn and Blackburn and restaurant St. Tropez are on the site.

Blackburn and Blackburn will remain at its present location and St. Tropez will relocate to another portion of the complex, under Freschi's proposal.

Freschi has submitted an application that envisions a commercial and retail complex of several two-story buildings.

There will be 4,216 sq. ft. of commercial space, including the restaurant, coin shop and two new "service commercial" shops.

There are to be 10 new condominiums and 24 underground parking spaces. He is required to provide only 15.

The redwood trees and large oak tree will be saved and incorporated into the design of the complex.

Planners will get their first official look at a third project, this one a plan for 10 condominiums and two apartments at the former Grunion Run restaurant site, south side of Fourth Avenue between San Carlos and Mission streets.

Sam Garzone has an option to buy the property if the city allows the project. The property is part of the Doud Trust.

THE CITY council at one time considered submission of a backup offer to buy the property if Garzone's plans failed to obtain approval.

However, the council chose not to submit an offer at this time because the city has too many other projects now in the works.

Also included on the 16,000 sq. ft. property is an abandoned white house. Both the house and former Grunion Run are to be demolished, however, the large redwood tree is to be saved.

The fourth major agenda item before the board is another longstanding issue that has been delayed for months.

Carmel PhotoArt, a photo-processing and film store in the Paradise building on the northeast corner of Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street, has submitted an application for a use permit.

The matter was pending in court when a compromise was arranged by which the city would drop its fight if PhotoArt obtained a use permit.

Through the use permit, the city could attach conditions to the operations of the business.

The land use committee of the board of adjustments recommends denial of the use permit because the one-hour photo processor consumes too much water.

Fiscal crisis may threaten future

Children's Experimental Theatre turns 25

By ANNE PAPINEAU

THERE IS A memory minted in Marcia Gambrell Hovick's brain at age four that's proven impossible to shake. She remembers being "the gifted child" who performed plum roles in children's theater, its stage ringed by those who were passed over for parts.

The memory of "all those kids sitting on the outside" deeply etched, Hovick founded Children's Experimental Theatre at the old Golden Bough Circle Theatre in Carmel.

From the start she sought to involve as many children as possible, both the stagestruck and those struck dumb. And while that original stage is in mothballs, Children's Experimental Theatre now enters its 25th year of, in Hovick's words, "fighting passivity with live performance."

"Theater is, I think, misunderstood in our society," Hovick said. "It has such glamour in its more flashy aspects, I think it's conceived of as a sort of ego trip by some people. It's really a training ground for communication. It's like an orchestra — the most cooperative of the arts."

The silver anniversary year for CET, which is based at the Indoor Forest Theatre in Carmel, is not absent of tarnish. Begun on a shoestring in 1960, the theater must still grope for funding in the post-Prop. 13 era of budget slashing in the arts.

"There is an abundance of theater on the peninsula for adults. They put their money where their benefit is, not their children's," observed CET business manager Norbert Kammer. "We've not really taken it to the public how desperate we are. People assume we have a money tree."

A founder of children's theaters "from Birmingham to Bakersfield," Hovick also has seen many Monterey Peninsula theaters fold during the past two decades. Her goal for CET in 1985 will be to acquaint still more people, adults and children alike, with its county-wide achievements.

"We'll be focusing on celebrating our 25th anniversary," she said. "We want to make not only Carmel but the whole county aware of what's going on, of how fragile it still is. A good theater working with children is very labor-intensive."

ACCORDING TO Children's Experimental Theater reports, the CET Traveling Troupe brings live theater to 22,000 school children each year, free of charge.

"Our experience is children would rather watch other kids," Hovick observed.

Students from Echo Valley to Elkhorn and even Carmel see four rotating casts in what is, for many of them, an introduction to classic fairy tales and live theater.

"The plays are 30 minutes long and are visually and intellectually exciting," noted Hovick, who adapts most of the tales herself, from Norse legends to Little Red Riding Hood. "We get responses even from the kids who don't speak English. Last year at Tularcitos (Carmel Valley), a teacher signed the whole show for the deaf."

Traveling Troupe provides grounding in children's theater for both audience and performers, who are usually close in age.

"I wind them (actors) through the audience so nobody is more than 20 feet from them," Hovick said. "It takes real concentration. Last year Shon Dubnoff of Carmel played a nasty dwarf who was left upon by a first grader. He didn't lose a beat."

Budgetary woes aside, CET strives to reach as wide an audience as possible via Traveling Troupe.

"This is a very, very culturally rich area," said Kammer, a Carmel resident. "We go to the peninsula last. We take the show to the poorer areas of Salinas and North County first because these children have no access to cultural activities. It's all for the benefit of the children. We even go to San Ardo in south county."

County symphony tunes up for youth concerts

THE MONTEREY County Symphony will strive to reach out and musically touch students from 39 area elementary schools during its annual youth concerts.

Students more accustomed to Springsteen than Stravinsky will be treated to free performances of the latter Wednesday and Thursday, March 27-28.

Guest conductor and music director candidate Akira Endo will lead the Monterey County Symphony in a concert that includes pieces by Prokofiev, Dudley Buck, Saint-Saens, Kabalevsky, Malcolm Arnold and Grofe.

The final piece on the program will be Surprise Encore, arranged by Lowden, and will feature local high school saxophone quartets, one from Monterey High and another from North Monterey County High School.

Akira Endo will be the eighth music director candidate to appear with the Monterey County Symphony. Music director of the Louisville (Ky.) Orchestra until 1983 and, before that, music director of the Austin Symphony, Endo was the music director and principal conductor of the American Ballet Theatre for eight years. In 1970 he led the ballet company on a tour of 11 European countries.

Endo received both a bachelor of music and a master of music degree from the University of California at Los Angeles. His recordings earned him a Grammy nomination and the Saturday Review and Irving Kolodin named his one of the 10 Best Recordings of the Year. In fall of 1983 Endo won first place in ASCAP's awards for "adventurous programming of contemporary music during the 1982-83 season" for his work with the Louisville Orchestra.

Endo has also recorded music by a variety

AKIRA ENDO, eighth candidate for the music director's post with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, previously served as music director and principal conductor of American Ballet Theatre, and has guest-conducted major orchestras in both the United States and Europe.

of composers, including Duke Ellington, Alberto Ginastera, Lukas Foss and Louis Moreau Gottschalk.

Attending the four youth concerts will be approximately 5,000 fourth and fifth graders. They include students from Captain Cooper, Carmel River, Tularcitos and All Saints' Episcopal Day schools.

The youth concerts are the culmination of a series of in-school demonstrations that the Monterey County Symphony Association provides to county schools. Ensembles, including brass, string, woodwind and percussion, travel to each of the participating schools and perform.

Musicians explain the basics of the individual sounds produced by their type of instrument and the history of the instrument. They play short pieces and use the music to tell stories, make dramatic sound effects and to illustrate different musical styles.

Children's Experimental Theatre celebrates anniversary

As a theater veteran since childhood, Hovick admitted she brought "a lot of prejudices" to CET 25 years ago.

"I hate wasting the kids' time. And every child who comes to us performs. Quite often I write the show for the group. Our aim is, everyone should have a successful experience."

The CET season corresponds with children's usual school year. Registration usually takes place in September, and is limited to approximately 120 children. Classes meet Saturdays or Mondays, depending on age group, at the Indoor Forest Theatre.

"Our philosophy is as different as it possibly can be from the stage mother pushing the stage brat," Hovick noted. "We get very shy children, very aggressive children, and what Ric Masten calls 'the coffee table dancers,' children putting on shows in the garage."

TUITION IS presently $300 per year, plus a $25 registration fee. Despite its straining budget, CET offers full tuition-grants to many children, based upon need. Many CET students are from Carmel and walk to rehearsals. Others are from Seaside, Marina and other peninsula communities.

"We offer a non-judgmental, open experience in communication with the voice, with the hands," Hovick said. "One of the things that happens is children have learned in the school system there is a right way and a wrong way of doing things. In the theater there can be 100 ways."

Carmel psychiatrist Dr. Friedy Heisler acknowledges that she has referred many children, "well-endowed but emotionally inhibited and insecure," to CET "as an exploratory exposure to learn to deal with their emotions in an exciting and meaningful way."

"Look closely at theaters on the peninsula," Hovick said. "Many of the most able directors, technicians and actors are graduates of CET."

"Our artistic structure is in good shape. The business structure needs help."

CET started small in 1960. Tuition was then $1 for each of 25 students. In 1969 CET incorporated and received tax-exempt status. It relocated to the Indoor Forest Theatre, owned by the City of Carmel.

Also in 1969, the Staff Players Repertory Company was formed. This performing troupe is made up of adults, chiefly CET staff, friends and volunteers. The Staff Players continue to stage shows, concentrating on classics by Moliere, Shaw, Chekhov and Goldoni. Its production of Christopher Fry's The Lady's Not for Burning opens Thursday, March 21 at the Indoor Forest Theatre.

CET was the first cultural activity in Monterey County to receive shared revenue, according to Hovick. In 1979, a CETA grant for administrative and technical personnel translated into an abundance of manpower. The added staff allowed CET to mount a full season of plays and establish a subscription series. Both programs were slashed with the passage of Prop. 13.

KAMMER, whose job as business manager was originally a CETA-funded position, described that program as a "mixed blessing" for the theater.

"It allowed us to expand our level of service to the community. It also spoiled our volunteers into thinking their effort was not needed," Kammer said. "We presented the spring play festival free to the community last year. The payroll ran out in May, I believe. We continued the season without pay."

"We are really a poor theater," Hovick said. "We use and re-use set pieces and costumes. What (costume designer) Loel (Shuler) does with these resources is amazing."

"We desperately need storage for set pieces. We're using about five different places for storage. As a non-profit organization, if anybody had a warehouse, they could deduct it."

CET has three full-time staff members: Hovick, Kammer and Shuler. Employed part-time, Kammer said, are teacher's aide Gwyneth Hovick, her daughter; associate director, set designer and artist Ramie Wikdahl; and instructor-photographer Mark Shuler, Loel Shuler's son.

"This fiscal year we are essentially four months behind in salaries," Kammer said. "The total projected salaries and benefits budget for six people is $80,000."

The business manager said CET tuition covers approximately 25 percent of expenses, donations account for 35 percent and 40 percent is supplied by grants, but the amount received actually falls short.

"We've always paid our creditors," Kammer said. "The reality is for the last three years I gave up 50 percent of my salary and they (Hovick and Shuler) gave up 30 percent of theirs."

"I tailor each grant request to the individual agency," Kammer said. "I write somewhere between 18 and 24 each year. We receive about 12."

Major sources of CET funding, Kammer said, include the Monterey County Board of Education ($4,500); Bing Crosby Youth Fund, ($4,000); and the City of Carmel ($3,800).

Hovick described a $5,000 organizational development grant received from the David and Lucile Packard Foundation as "just the beginning, but exciting and hopeful for children's theater."

She also said the CET staff "makes it our business to welcome new groups, like CalRep. Anytime a theater is successful it helps us all."

And Marcia Hovick said she prefers to stress success. For its 25th anniversary, CET will mount a major birthday bash May 10 at the Outdoor Forest Theater. The day will feature an al fresco supper, performance by the Traveling Troupe, a scene from The Lady's Not for Burning, stage fighting demonstration, music and surprises.

Still, the theater director said she has cause to wonder, without increased support, "Will we be able to train children in this craft that gives them comfort, flexibility and confidence?"

"When you're as small as you can get, non-existence is the only other option," explained the business manager.

Benefit book sale scheduled

Suttle impresses in role as symphony conductor

CLARK SUTTLE, the latest candidate for director of the Monterey County Symphony was, in a word, impressive in weekend performances. He guided the orchestra through a program of late baroque, early romantic and (more or less) contemporary works with a sure hand.

The orchestra was featured in two early romantic works, the overture to Der Freischuetz by Weber and Schubert's Ninth Symphony. Both works were characterized by dramatic contrasts, well-shaped phrases and rhythmic drive.

In the Weber, the distance between the lyrical tune (which becomes Agathe's aria) and the spooky atmosphere which sets the stage for the scene in the Wolf's Glen was immense and very effective.

Schubert and I don't operate on the same temporal frame of reference, which is by way of admission that I get somewhat wearied with the longer works. Nevertheless, there is no denying that "The great" C Major Symphony is, indeed, a great symphony.

Suttle coaxed a lot of sound and excitement from the orchestra for an exuberant, upbeat reading. The second movement had delicacy and the allegros had life. The scherzo was the least satisfactory movement, due to some heaviness in the violins, but that detracted little from the general impression.

The principal winds got well-deserved bows at the end, and a special bouquet goes to the French horn players, who acquitted themselves with distinction in difficult, exposed parts in both works.

One wonders if Suttle's experience as a bass player doesn't account in some way for his approach as a conductor. Western music is controlled from the bottom, harmonically and rhythmically. A strong bass is an essential ingredient of good playing.

He took care to shape bass lines, and that had to have an effect on the response in the upper parts, as well as keeping the music rhythmically strong.

Rolf Smedvig, trumpeter, joined the orchestra in concertos by Tartini and Arutunian. Smedvig played the Tartini in a crisp, brilliant manner which, unfortunately, was not matched by the orchestra, which took a more romantic view of the work. Reducing the strings by at least half would have been a step in the right direction. The lush, vibrato-ridden string sound was at odds with the bright tone of the D trumpet.

FRANK WIENS, 1983 bronze medalist in the Artist Division of the Young Keyboard Artists Association Competition, will present both a master class and recital this weekend on the Monterey Peninsula.

SOLO TRUMPETERS are hampered, to put it mildly, by shortages in the repertoire. Wonderful as the Haydn concerto is, one can only play it so many times in one season. So, one is always on the lookout for alternatives. The concerto by the contemporary Armenian composer, Alexander Arutunian, is just that — an alternative. To silence.

Since he is still living, he is technically a contemporary composer. But nothing in the work suggests that the composer has heard any music since Prokofiev, including Shostakovich's latest works.

A mildly exotic, modal sound was attained by means of flattened thirds and gapped scales, but they are not consistent enough to coalesce into a system and, in the end, it is just the old tonal system with a few added notes.

Frank Wiens appears in concert, class

WORKS BY both Copland and Chopin are included on the program to be played by pianist Frank Wiens during his fourth local recital. Bronson Concerts presents Wiens at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 24, in Sunset Theater, Carmel.

Wiens, coached by such noted pianists as Gyorgy Sandor, Leon Fleischer and Lili Kraus, achieved national prominence by winning numerous competitions, among them the 1975 Atlanta Young Artist Competition, the 1976 Southwest Pianists Foundation Competition and the 1978 Three Rivers International Piano Competition, where he was featured in a live performance broadcast nation-wide of the Rachmaninoff Third Piano Concerto.

For more than a decade, Wiens has traveled the United States as a recitalist and orchestral soloist. In addition to performing, Wiens has given master classes for music teachers' associations and at many of the colleges he visits during his concert tours.

Wiens will conduct a master class for pianists from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 23 in Room M-1 at Monterey Peninsula College. The class is presented by the Monterey County Branch of the Music Teachers' Association of California, which will videotape the program. Admission is $10 for students performing in the class and $5 for auditors.

Tickets for the concert are available at Bartlett Music, Carmel; Baldwin Music Center, Pacific Grove; Abinante Music, Monterey and at the box office the afternoon of the performance. For additional information about either the concert or the master class, call Bronson Concerts, 625-0797.

Harmonies are thick; syncopation and other varieties of off-beat accenting pass for rhythm. Smedvig played it well-nigh flawlessly (as far as I could tell), but it didn't turn into great music.

TWO SIGNIFICANT deaths in music occurred during the week: conductor Eugene Ormandy and composer Roger Sessions.

Ormandy's death tempts one to "end of an era" cliches, but the truth is the era was over some time ago. Ormandy was perhaps the last conductor to stay with an orchestra long enough and consistently enough to make it truly his instrument.

Sessions was one of our most distinguished composers. A student of Horatio Parker, he in turn became teacher to a generation which included David Diamond, Leon Kirchner and Paul Bowles.

Friends of Photography honors innovations by Uelsmann, Kertesz

THE FRIENDS of Photography presented their annual Peer Awards in Creative Photography last month in Carmel. The award for "Distinguished Career in Photography" was presented to Andre Kertesz of New York City; a second award for "Photographer of 1984" was given to Jerry N. Uelsmann of Gainesville, Florida.

The award presentation, which took place during a weekend meeting of the board of trustees of The Friends of Photography, was made by Peter C. Bunnell, president of the board, and by James Alinder, executive director of the Carmel-based photography organization.

The annual Peer Awards, the first awards to give formal recognition to the contributions made by individuals within the field of creative photography, were established by the Trustees of The Friends in 1980.

The award for "Distinguished Career in Photography" is intended to recognize and honor one of the senior figures in the field of creative photography — a photographer, critic, curator, historian or other individual whose work has advanced the state of photography and who has set an example of high standards and dedication. The award for "Photographer of the Year" is specifically intended for a practicing photographer whose past work is actively continuing to pursue this work. It is a "mid-career" award given both to recognize past achievement and to encourage future work.

Andre Kertesz was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1894, and emigrated to Paris in the mid-1920s. From 1925 to 1935, Kertesz worked as a freelance photographer for European newspapers and magazines. In 1936 he moved to New York City, where he spent the next 12 years photographing for such publications as Harper's Bazaar, Vogue, Town and Country and Collier's.

Kertesz was one of the first photographers to adopt the small, handheld camera as his primary photographic tool. He has received widespread recognition for his compassionate, "slice-of-life" images of people on the streets of Hungary; for his informal, sensitive and insightful portraits of individuals prominent in the literary and art world of Paris in the 1920s; and for his geometric images of New York City streets and buildings. Kertesz is also respected as an avant-garde photographer, particularly for his radical 1933 series of female nudes distorted as if reflected in fun house mirrors. Kertesz continues to photograph from his rooftop, overlooking New York's Washington Square, and has recently begun to photograph still-lives in color, using the Cibachrome printing process.

Jerry N. Uelsmann was born in 1934. In the 1950s, he studied under Ralph Hattersley and Minor White at Rochester Institute of Technology in Rochester, New York, and received his M.F.A. degree in 1960 from Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana, where he studied with Henry Holmes Smith.

Uelsmann has continually explored the visual intricacies of composite photographs. A symbolist image-maker and master craftsman, he uses as many as seven enlargers to obtain a single image. Uelsmann is recognized for his mysterious photographs which create a personal universe where all things become possible.

Uelsmann was awarded a Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship in 1967 and has since received a Photographer's Fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts. One of the founding members of the Society for Photographic Education in 1962, Uelsmann is currently a graduate research professor at the University of Florida at Gainesville and serves as a trustee for The Friends.

Dinner dance, golf round benefit CARE relief fund

MEMBERS of the Monterey Peninsula hospitality industry, from waiters to winemasters, have joined talents to produce the CARE African Relief Fund Golf Tournament and Awards Dinner Dance.

The multi-faceted fundraiser is scheduled Sunday, March 24, at Rancho Canada Golf Club, Carmel Valley, and the Hyatt Regency Monterey.

Labor, location and provisions have been donated by numerous businesses and individuals, so that 95 percent of proceeds will be contributed to the CARE "Africa Fund" to reach famine-stricken areas in Ethiopia.

The remaining five percent of proceeds will pay for CARE operating costs. According to CARE Regional Director Bonnie Long, 95 cents sustains an Ethiopian for almost one week.

The project is the brainchild of Rancho Canada President Nick Lombardo and Hyatt Regency Monterey General Manager Philip Lombardi.

"The hospitality industry is a people-caring business and this is our way of showing how much we care, even for people half way around the world in a crisis situation such as Africa," Lombardo explained.

The benefit begins at 10 a.m. Sunday with continental breakfast at Rancho Canada, to be followed at 11 a.m. by the Shangri-La Shotgun Golf Tournament. Box lunches will be served on the course. Golfers are encouraged to sign up as individuals or in four-player teams. Minimum donation for admission to both the golf tournament and evening dinner dance is $100 per person.

The action moves to the Hyatt Regency Monterey for the evening activities, to start with a champagne and international hors d'oeuvres reception from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The dinner menu, assembled by top peninsula chefs, will include Monterey Bay salad, roasted New York strip steak, vegetables, Cassatta Neopolitan, coffee and wines.

Winners in both men's and women's golf categories will be announced in the evening. Mike Marotta's Orchestra and Bill LePine's Cloudburst are the scheduled dance bands. Admission to the dinner dance only is $40 per person.

"I think one of the special things about the African Relief campaign is that it is for such an immediate crisis situation," noted Bert Cutino, owner of the Sardine Factory and Restaurants Central. "It's reflected in the hearts of us in the food industry since these people are starving. The benefit is somehow symbolic of trying to feed these people. Here's an opportunity for us to serve great food and the proceeds can go directly into the relief fund."

All donations to the effort are fully tax-deductible, and contributions will be accepted even from individuals unable to attend any of the scheduled events. Donations should be made payable to CARE-African Drought Relief Fund, and mailed to Box 22590, Carmel, Calif. 93922.

For reservations to the golf tournament, dinner dance, or both, call 624-0111.

An entertaining evening of Ayckbourn at college

PLAYING ON the main stage at Monterey Peninsula College is Alan Ayckbourn's justly popular play, Absurd Person Singular.

It is vintage Ayckbourn — a triple shot of wildly funny marital comedy, straight up, with a twist of darkness. Director Peter DeBono and a first-rate cast do it justice, with an expert production that shouldn't be missed.

This uproarious play chronicles the fortunes and friendships of three couples who meet on three successive Christmas Eves, each year in the home of a different couple. Just as each couple is comprised of a symbiotic pair of people who collide but do not merge, so the annual holiday parties are three-way collisions with a great deal of action but few meetings of the mind or heart.

Take the Hopcrofts, for example. Sidney (Don Porter) is an upwardly mobile shop owner, hellbent to win the acceptance of his social superiors, an acceptance he plans to turn to his profit. Although Sidney's company manners are jovial, he tries to bully Jane (Patricia Cullen) into absorbing the embarrassment of every faux pas, but both are ruled by convention to such an extreme that they often sell each other out rather than endure embarrassment.

Thus Jane would rather slip out the back door and slog through the rain than stand up to Sidney's threatening behavior or utter the simple phrase: "We're out of tonic water." And Sidney would rather leave her out in the rain all night than let her in to her own kitchen while guests are present.

Jane retreats from acknowledging Sidney's opportunism into fits of manic housekeeping. Sidney excuses his behavior in the name of business and cloaks his opportunism in joviality, and the Hopcrofts settle into the central pattern of their symbiosis: they avoid themselves and each other contentedly.

Their guests are not much better off. Eva (Robin Rooney) and Geoffrey (Patrick McEvoy Harrop) Jackson are an unhappy young pair. Eva is neurotically intense, popping tranquilizers in the kitchen ("to keep from screaming") while Geoffrey, an elegant and bored womanizer, drops peanuts on the floor so he can look up the dress of another party-goer. Eva reacts to Geoffrey's promiscuity with increasingly mad behavior.

IN ACT II, Rooney almost brings down the house as she acts out wordlessly her single-minded determination to commit suicide mid-party. Sidney keeps writing fix-it diagrams on the backs of Eva's suicide notes.

Every suicide attempt is mistaken for a household repair,

Elephant Man examination

until the occasion resembles a barn-raising more than a cocktail party. Act II is wonderfully well-directed and perfectly timed, with farcical bits piled on one after another to riotous effect.

And last, but definitely not least, are the elderly, wealthy Brewster-Wrights. Ronald (John Hicks) is a bemused banker who does not understand women and is often content to let his wife do the socializing. Marion (Gertrude Chappell) is elegant, a genius at snide party chatter, capable of talking about nothing at very great length ("They're so easy to open and shut. I really do envy you these cupboards.") And, privately, she is a mistress of candor ("This really is a loathsome little house.") While Ronald cannot quite decide what to do with his wife, Gertrude develops a relationship with alcohol.

By the third Christmas Eve, at Gertrude and Ronald's house, the couples' fortunes all have reversed but their dynamics have not. So the people haven't grown and their relationships are still just neurotic symbioses? It is Ayckbourn's particular gift to make just such hopeless, mundane material entirely diverting. You might as well laugh. And if you come out to see this splendid cast in this very funny play, you certainly will.

The bears are back!

AFTER A successful San Francisco showing, The Secret Lives of the Teddy Bears is back in Carmel, playing benefit performances for Briarcliff Academy.

Briarcliff acoustics are fine, the bears never sounded better, and the show's whimsical staging is perfectly complemented by the room's perspectives and atmosphere.

It's no accident that teddy bears are so popular. Deep in the soul of the crankiest grownup there's a furry aspect eager to express itself. The Secret Lives of the Teddy Bears utilizes this bearable universal truth to the max.

Max Robert's book is riddled with wit and puns calculated to keep adults laughing and children chortling. Roberts' wonderful music and C.T. Chase's witty lyrics could pass muster on Broadway.

And that's not all. The bears are strikingly costumed in fur suits in keeping with their type, designed and made by Robert, and Carey Crockett's handpainted sets are just the right whimsical setting for the bears' adventures.

There's a breakdancing Baby Bear (Heather Young) whose high energy and joyful presence ("I'm Gonna be BIG-BIG-BIG!") almost steal the show.

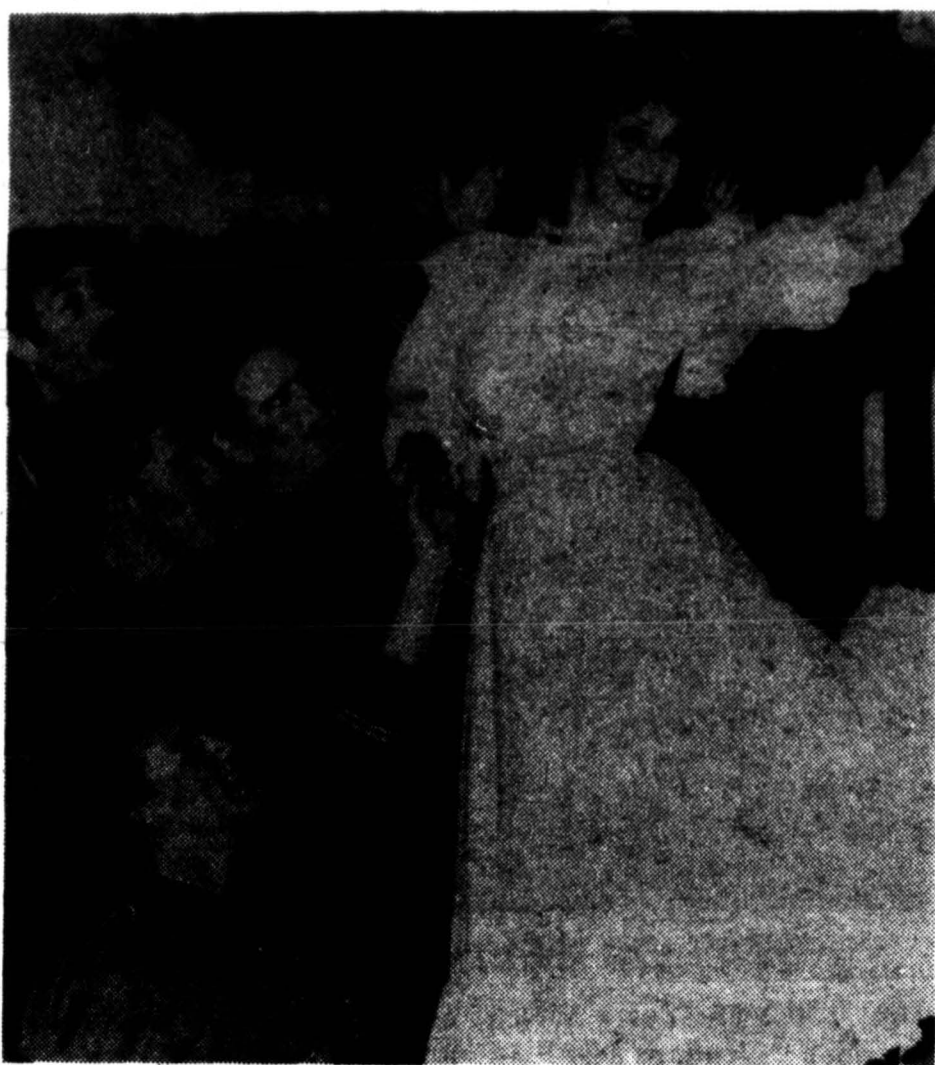

Conservative Professor Polar Bear (Carey Crockett) combines elitist snobbery with irresistibly childish logic. ("To go back to China," he advises Panda, "you would have to practice walking upside down.") Crockett's rich voice and stuffy characterization create a perfect polar bear.

Mama Bear (Leslie-Ann Sturges), is a crooning ingenue with a silky voice, an expressive face, and a genuine fur presence, who can barely bear to miss her "Honey Bear." And Howard Hinckley, Jr.'s Panda is an oversize three-year-old panda with a busted music box and a loving heart.

Into this sprightly group of neglected toys steals Grizzly Bear (Vince Salazar), a streetwise bear with nasty plans for the experience-hungry teddies, and his unwilling accomplice Goldie (Renata Yundt), a hybrid Barbie doll trapped within the verbal limits of a redundant chatty ring. Goldie is as surprised as everybody else by what she says, and Yundt's haunting expressions convey this perfectly.

Then there's Fizzle Rat, a lisping junkyard impresario, trash food junkie, and all-around bad guy. ("That'th not a lithp," he objects, "It'th a hith!")

ALL 15 of the show's songs are fine, with 13 out of 15

Musical mounties

standouts. Robert's book advances the action with almost every number, making for a fast-paced show with no dead spots. Vince Salazar's "I Could Be Your Teddy Bear" sets the tone for many good tunes to follow, like "Be A Dancing Bear," a musical dancing lesson in waltz tempo richly sung by Crockett's Polar Bear.

Leslie-Ann Sturges' lilting rendition of "Honey Bear" is a high point. And Crockett's sensitively dramatized rendition of "Dreams of a Lifetime" will touch the hearts of adults and children alike. Throughout, John Jay Espino's keyboard accompaniment charms the ear with a sound reminiscent of carousel music.

What's going to become of this fur group? Should they leave the monotonous comfort of a dusty nursery for the excitement of Dump City?

Will Grizzly succeed in bumping off Polar and Panda, so Fizzle Rat can have his way with Mama Bear? And how's a person with a chatty ring supposed to cope with all this? You can find out in the most delightful musical way by seeing Teddy Bears. The smallest child's attention will not flag, and the most mean-spirited group will walk out smiling.

Sensitive 'Elephant Man'

BERNARD POMERANCE'S The Elephant Man currently plays at the Hartnell College Theater in Salinas in a strongly performed, richly dressed production that is sensitively directed by Taft Miller.

A Victorian doctor (Larry Welch) rescues Joseph Merrick (Stephen Moorer) from a miserable, inhuman existence. Hideously deformed by neurofibromatosis, Merrick is found in a carnival freak show in the care of an agent who treats him like an animal. Dr. Treves secures for him a permanent home in a London hospital and takes upon himself the enculturation and education of Merrick in the mores and manners of the day.

In the course of their ensuing relationship, Merrick, so terrifying in appearance that nurses flee screaming and policemen curse him as an embodiment of evil ("People who think right don't look like that"), reveals an exquisitely sensitive spirit and an uncanny insight into humanity.

Although Merrick is easily bewildered by his patronizing doctor and is childishly innocent and impressionable, he is instinctively wise and unhampered by egotism.

"Before I spoke," he explains, "I did not think things because I had no one to think things for. Now things just come out of my mouth and they are true."

Stephen Moorer's portrayal of this magical being is sensitive and touching, his own good looks vibrating with the extreme deformity of the character as described, and he holds a tortured posture and maintains a reedy, expressive voice throughout a demanding performance.

Larry Welch is Moorer's match, and brings to the role of Frederick Treves an emotional range, strength, and tone that create almost singlehandedly the Victorian era on Hartnell's stage. As their relationship grows, Treves becomes increasingly aware of his own inner deformity in contrast with Merrick's guileless innocence, and increasingly Merrick is shown as a touchstone.

The lords and ladies who visit Merrick are charmed by his civility and precocity, but they do not see beyond his terrifying appearance to the person within.

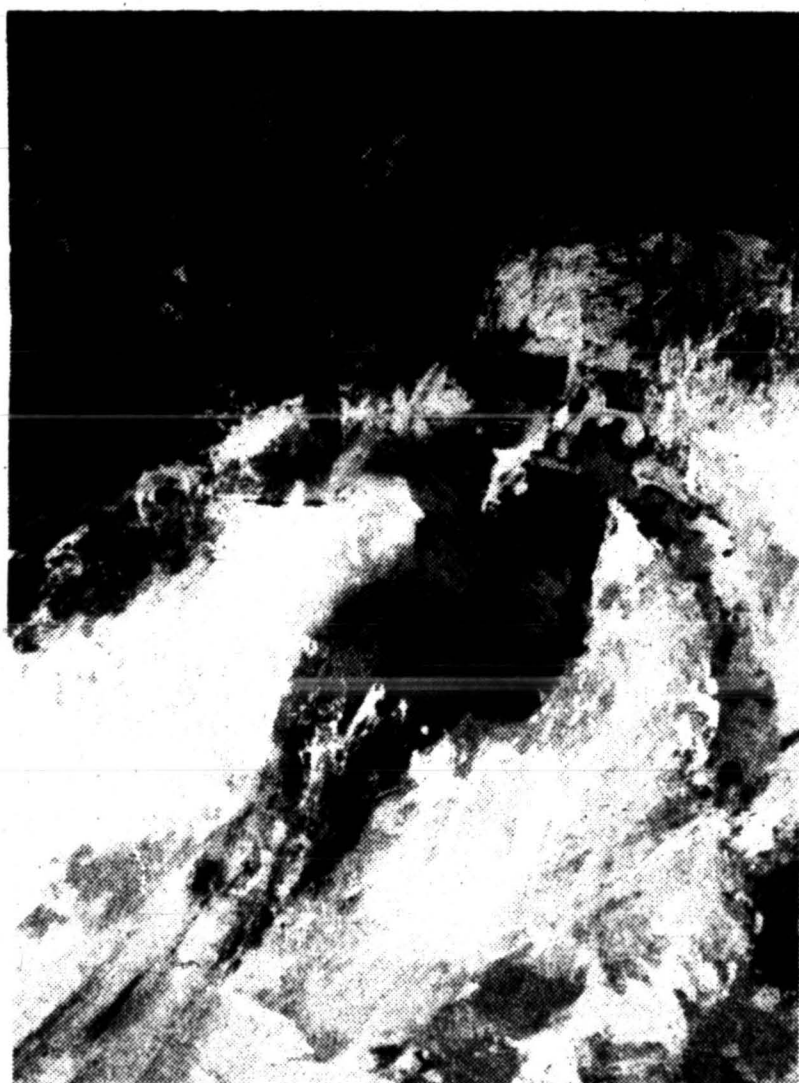

A uniformly able cast backs up these fine lead performances, with especially strong support from Frank Davis as the cynical hospital administrator and Pat Horsley as Mrs. Kendal, a great-hearted actress who becomes Merrick's first real woman friend.

This Hartnell production, impressively staged and dressed, offers a haunting exploration of the twists and bends hidden in the human heart.

WATERCOLORS and drawings by Miguel Dominguez are highlighted at Village Artistry, Dolores between Ocean and Seventh.

Carmel. Opening receptions are planned 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, March 23-24.

Miguel Dominguez show set

The drawings and paintings of Carmel artist Miguel Dominguez will be featured in a one-man exhibition at the Village Artistry gallery. The show will open on Saturday, March 23 and continue through April 6.

Miguel Dominguez was born in Texas and at the age of seven he moved with his family to Gonzales, a farming community in the Salinas Valley. It was during these formative years that art became a preoccupation with him, and at the age of 14 he received his first award. He has participated in more than 35 one-man and group exhibitions throughout California and is the recipient of many awards.

The public is invited to meet the artist on Saturday, March 23 and Sunday March 24 between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. The gallery, on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh, is open daily.

Computer plotters replace looms to produce these woven patterns

ARTIST Susan Brown "weaves" with computer plotters instead of a loom.

Brown's personal love affair with the computer began when her family bought a small home computer in 1981. At first the computer seemed a helpful tool to design weaving patterns, but she became even more intrigued with creating fabric-like works of computer art.

"I began to use lines as if they were threads to mix new colors as I would on the loom," she explained. "The four colored pens of the Zeta plotter gave me an almost infinite variety of colors, just as weavers are accustomed to mixing colors in the eyes of the viewer."

The early works were drawn on paper, but she said she now prefers acetate and mylar — far stronger materials that better withstand the many cross-hatchings the pens must make in creating a design.

Although her designs are produced with computer programs, no two are alike as so many variations are possible by the way the programs are implemented by the artist.

A native of New York City, Brown was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and completed graduate studies in textiles, printmaking and computer graphics at Indiana University.

Brown pointed out that the relationship between programming and weaving is a natural one because "the first programmers were weavers who programmed the Jacquard loom with punch cards."

Brown has exhibited both her fabrics and computer "weaving" in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan. Landell Galleries in Carmel is the first in California to show her work.

Laub returns to Carmel to face arrest warrant

By MICHAEL GARDNER

IT IS tradition in the South Seas to greet new visitors and say goodbye to old friends with leis. Carmel businessman Paul Laub had quite a few flowers after his recent six-week tour of Fiji, Tahiti, the Cook Islands and the Samoas.

But when Laub returned to Carmel in mid-February, he was given a rather rude welcome — word of a court-issued warrant for his arrest in relation to a feud with the city over Christmas lights.

Laub never was arrested and the warrant had been withdrawn before Laub's arrival. "When we found out there was a warrant, we immediately asked that it be withdrawn," explained Carmel City Atty. Don Freeman.

Actually, the warrant turned out to be another mixup in the rather humorous case of the Carmel Christmas tree lights. But Laub isn't laughing.

Laub believes the city wants to harass him because of a continual feud over his tourist-oriented businesses and lawsuits that challenge the in-lieu fees charged to merchants who can't provide adequate parking.

The case began the day after Thanksgiving when Laub's employees placed colorful lights in city-owned trees outside the Paradise store, northeast corner of Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street, and outside Laub's Country Store, southwest corner of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street.

Laub, meanwhile, was vacationing in the South Seas.

Perturbed that his lights were blinking long before the city Christmas tree was lit Dec. 6, the city told Laub's crew to unplug the lights until Dec. 7.

The city also was concerned that the low-hanging cords posed a danger to the pedestrians. The trees also are city property and therefore Laub needed a encroachment permit, which never was obtained.

Eventually the police came around and confiscated the lights and the city sent Laub a citation.

A hearing was to be conducted Dec. 21 in Monterey County Superior Court. However, Freeman and Laub's attorney Hugo Gerstl agreed to a 90-day continuance.

But there was a paperwork mixup and the court apparently never received the letters requesting the continuance.

Automatically a warrant was issued for Laub's arrest because neither he nor his attorney showed up for the Dec. 21 hearing.

So when Laub returned from vacation, one of his employees told him there was a warrant for his arrest.

ALTHOUGH the warrant was a matter of miscommunication, Laub fumed at the city in a telephone call to the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook Feb. 19.

"I came back here and find out that there's a warrant for my arrest...I guess for criminal Christmas tree lights," Laub said.

Laub claims he has installed the Christmas tree lights for three years without a peep from the city.

"The thing that just blows me away is that they would go out and do something like this. I was shocked," Laub said.

"I don't know what to do. I wasn't arrested so I don't know if there's anything I can do. They've been harassing me pretty steadily. This past year it's been nonstop," Laub said.

In January the entire case of the city versus Laub over the Christmas tree lights was dropped at the request of the city.

As Freeman wrote the court: "On behalf of the city of Carmel-by-the-Sea, I respectfully request the court dismiss this matter in the interest of justice."

PAUL LAUB was greeted by leis during his South Seas vacation. But upon returning to Carmel, he was greeted by word that a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

Light may shine at end of Carmel school district finance tunnel

WHAT INTERIM Superintendent Rich Hawkins called "a new era in school finance" may be just around the proverbial corner, Carmel Unified School District trustees were told March 11.

In his financial report to the board, Hawkins said unexpectedly rapid increases in district property tax income have brought the district to the brink of escaping the state's K-12 revenue limit.

Escaping the revenue limit's-complicated formula means the district will become a basic aid district, and that means "we will profit dollar for dollar from increases in local tax income," Hawkins said at the board meeting at Carmel Middle School.

Hawkins said the Monterey County Office of Education recently discovered that the district apparently had qualified to become a basic aid district due to increases in assessed valuation of property within the district.

Even though Prop. 13 clamped a ceiling on the annual percentage of increase for property assessments, property which changes hands is reassessed at the sale price.

Although he wouldn't speculate on when or how much extra revenue the district may receive under basic aid, Hawkins said: "It may have an effect this year." And he assured district employees in the audience: "We will bring this information to the employee mediation process."

"We're not going to have a large windfall" this year, Hawkins continued, but he said the district might expect considerably more income in future years.

Trustee James Yates characterized the news as "a breath of fresh air."

Despite the upbeat tone of the report for district finances, Hawkins cautioned the board that the state could change the rules of school financing and pull the revenue out of the district.

And even if the rules don't change, Hawkins said financial life as a basic aid district can be perilous at times because the district will be more susceptible to economic conditions which influence local property sales and development.

Hawkins told the board the district should obtain and maintain a 5 percent budget reserve as a cushion against any sudden let-down in district financing.

He said both the state and county recommend such a contingency reserve, even though districts under basic aid do have the opportunity once each year of returning to the revenue limit plan.

Earlier in the session, Imogene Speiser, president of the Association of Carmel Teachers, called on the board to make a commitment to increase the pay of Carmel teachers. She said teachers have so far been offered only a 1 percent increase during negotiations.

"Teachers have considered the instability of our district at this time, and have continued to meet in good faith. But our patience grows thin," she said.

NOTICE OF DEATH OF JAMES PAGE van LOBEN SELS AND OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE Case No. MP 9157

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate of JAMES P. van LOBEN SELS, also known as JAMES PAGE van LOBEN SELS, a petition has been filed by JAMES WARREN van LOBEN SELS in the Superior Court of Monterey County requesting that JAMES WARREN van LOBEN SELS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act.

A hearing on the petition will be held on April 12, 1985 at 9:30 a.m. located at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, California 93940.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court or present it to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 700 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may serve upon the executor or administrator, or upon the attorney for the executor or administrator, and file with the court with proof of service, a written request stating that you desire special notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of the petitions or accounts mentioned in sections 1200 and 1220.5 of the California Probate Code.

VIEW OF LIGHTS AND BAY

Two bedrooms, two bath Ocean Pines condominium ground-floor unit with great views of Monterey Bay and the lights of the city through the trees. The unit has 1,200 square feet of living area with extras such as wet bar, walk-in closets, single car garage, single carport and storage. Unit is fully furnished and owner will consider including furniture in sale. $195,000.

PRICE LOWERED ELEGANT FAMILY HOME

This elegant and well-built home is now being offered for sale at the reduced price of $398,000. It could never be built for that price in today's market and offer the extras and built-in features it does. It has five bedrooms, four baths, three car garage, shake roof, sprinkler system, wet bar, walk-in closets, marble fireplace and vaulted ceilings. There is a view of Point Lobos from the upstairs portion of the house that is currently being used as a two-room apartment with bath. The bedrooms have built-in cabinets and the baths are fully tiled. The kitchen has stainless steel counter tops, two copper hoods and three exhaust fans. The formal dining room has built-in cabinets with pull-out shelves for storage of china and silver. The extras are too numerous to list and this home must be seen to appreciate.

COMMERCIAL BUILDING IN CARMEL

The price has been reduced to $410,000 on this 2,500 square foot building in downtown Carmel. Located on east side of Lincoln, the second north of 8th, this building is a rare offer and bargain priced.

NEW PAINT THROUGHOUT

This two bedroom, two bath condominium has just been put on the market. It has 1,478 square feet of living area, is on one level and located in Ridge at High Meadow. It has a fireplace, modern kitchen, atrium and carport. $179,500.

POINT LOBOS VIEWS

Breathtaking views of Point Lobos and the ocean are yours for the taking from this great home on Santa Lucia, the first southeast of Lincoln. With 5 bedrooms and 3 baths and 2,050 square feet of living area this lovely Carmel home has a new roof. This is the first time this

CARMEL VIEW LOT

Gently sloping one-acre plus view of ocean, valley and Fish Ranch. Located on Rotunda Drive in Rancho Rio Vista, three blocks from shops at the Mouth of the Valley. $195,000.

GREAT LOCATION NEAR TOWN

The location is one of the best things this great Carmel home has to offer. It's situated on the south side of 10th, the second west of Dolores, a short walk to the Village and beach. The home has been completely refurbished and offers a mixture of modern with the Carmel charm of wood and open beam ceilings. The third bedroom is a converted garage that could easily be changed back. Extras include a large deck with hot tub, drip irrigation system and top notch landscaping. $295,000.

3 BLOCKS TO POST OFFICE

It's three blocks to the post office in Carmel and there is a great forest view from this home at Dolores and 3rd. There are 2 bedrooms, 2 baths and room to add on under the house. Plenty of storage and off-street parking. $195,000. Excellent terms and owner financing.

AFFORDABLE HOUSING

Good family home just blocks from downtown Carmel. This 2 bedroom, 2 bath home has a large yard, modern kitchen, freshly painted inside, new carpet, sun porch, nice deck and oversized single garage. $189,500.

CARMEL CORNER LOT

Level lot on the northeast corner of Torres at 6th. Perfect for building on the edge of the business district. Adjacent to market and just a short walk to town. $195,000. Now reduced to $150,000.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
CARMEL VALLEY FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT
ORDINANCE NO. 85-1

AN ORDINANCE OF THE
CARMEL VALLEY FIRE PROTEC-TION DISTRICT, PROVIDING FOR THE DESIGNATION OF EMPLOYEES AND OFFICERS
AUTHORIZED TO ISSUE ARREST
CITATIONS.

The Board of Directors of the
Carmel Valley Fire Protection
District does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENTS
MADE TO ORDINANCE 84-2 OF
THE CARMEL VALLEY FIRE PRO-TECTION DISTRICT.

The ordinance dealing with providing for the designation of employees and officers authorized to issue arrest citations is amended and changed to read as follows:

SECTION 2. ISSUANCE OF CITATIONS BY DESIGNATED OF-FICERS AND EMPLOYEES

Officers and employees of the District who have the discretionary duty to enforce a statute or ordinance may, pursuant to Section 13872 of the Health and Safety Code and subject to the provisions hereof, arrest a person without a warrant whenever any such officer or employee has reasonable cause to believe that the person to be arrested has committed a misdemeanor in the officer's or employee's presence which he or she has the discretionary duty to enforce, and to issue a notice of appear and to release such person on his or her written promise to appear in court, pursuant to Section 853.5 and 853.6 of the Penal Code. Any person who willfully violates this written promise to appear in court as evidenced by a signed citation is guilty of a misdemeanor pursuant to 853.7 of the Penal Code, regardless of the disposition of the charge upon which he was originally arrested. No officer or employee shall be allowed by his or her superior to exercise the arrest and citation authority herein conferred, unless such officer or employee is within a classification of District officers and employees designated by resolution of the District Board to exercise such arrest and citation authority as to specified misdemeanor violations. The District Board shall establish and cause to be administered a special enforcement training program designed to instruct each officer or employee who will exercise such arrest and citation authority, regarding the provisions of the statutes and ordinances to be enforced, the evidentiary prerequisites to proper prosecution for violations thereof, the appropriate procedures for making arrests or otherwise prudently exercising such arrest and citation authority and the legal and practical ramifications and limitations attendant thereto. Any such officers and employees shall be appropriately instructed to deposit executed citations or notices within the Carmel Valley Fire Protection District for filing with the court after review for legal sufficiency. Bail schedule for violations of the Uniform Fire Code will be set by resolution of the Board of Directors.

SECTION 3. EFFECTIVE DATE:
This ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after passage.

SECTION 4. PUBLICATION.
That the Secretary of the Board of Directors shall certify to the adoption of this ordinance and to cause same to be published.

PASSED AND ADOPTED AT A REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE
Carmel Valley Fire Protection
District, County of Monterey,
State of California, on this 12th day of March, 1985.

California's Challenging Sur Coast

One of the fine pioneer women of Big Sur recounted that "the world is made up of many different kinds of people and Big Sur has one of each!" So, too, properties along the Sur Coast vary greatly and most are one of a kind. We feel fortunate indeed to offer so many unusual properties for your inspection; ocean front, canyon, ocean view, mountain homes and acreages.

ON THE NORTH SUR COAST:

Otter Cove at north extremity of the Sur Coast, on the continent's edge: 1.42 acres — $394,000, 1.32 — $456,000.

Old Victorine Ranch with splendid ocean views and ample usable land: 5.85 acres, with permit — $425,000. 6.34 acres. $395,000.

Rocky Point Area famed for magnificent coastline and canyons: Garrapata Trout Farm — $890,000, Home overlooking Garrapata Beach — $750,000, Ocean Front hideaway — $725,000.

Palo Colorado Canyon — midway between Carmel and Big Sur: Residence with white-water views at mouth of Canyon — $295,000, Amid Redwoods on 1.34 acres, remodeled home with hot tub, decks — $267,500.

IN BIG SUR:

Pfeiffer Ridge renowned for ocean views, warm, protected exposure, New home on 5 acres with private well — $276,000, Secluded hide-away with solar electricity — $245,000, Dramatic home on 10 acres, ocean views, hot tub, decks — $295,000.

Sycamore Ridge, a westerly shoulder of Pfeiffer Ridge: 29 acres, with permits, ocean view, redwoods, spring — $198,000, Delightful, small home on 5 acres, ocean view — $237,500, New solar home on level 5 acres, with gardens, ocean view — $290,000.

Sycamore Canyon — the road to Pfeiffer Beach: A true Big Sur home on 5 acres, redwoods, sun, private well — $232,500.

Pfeiffer Point is among the most exciting promontories on the entire Pacific Coast: 40 acres of land with ocean views, oaks, redwoods — $220,000, 10 acres with barn and coastal permits, smashing views — $450,000, 19 acres adjoining portion of Los Padres Nat'l. Forest — 2 homes — $825,000.

Coast Ridge Road above Ventanna Inn, with rewarding ocean views, oaks and redwoods: 129 acres with outlooks north to Pt. Sur Lighthouse — $645,000, 100 acres with right-of-way off Scenic Highway — $500,000, 300 ac. — $625,000, 132 ac. $425,000, 90 ac. — $375,000.

Ridge between Graves & Castro Canyons, across from Nepenthe: 30 & 35 acre parcels with ocean views: each $235,000.

THE FUN-WITH-FOOD RESTAURANT

Finally, a restaurant where you can be creative!

In fact, we encourage it. When you join Cafe Central for a whole-some meal, it's just like eating at home (without the work). We are family owned and family operated to serve you with quality fare at fair prices. And we're open 7 days every week!

CREATE-A-MEAL

Start with one of our tasty menu selections. Then add or subtract ingredients to your liking ... or start from scratch and create an a la carte mastermeal. Champagne brunch with us on weekends!

SHARE-A-MEAL

Order our Seafood, Chicken of Clams Tomato feasts (or anything). We're happy to provide you with extra plates, complete with garni.

11 New Ventures

The Crossroads is growing as never before. Right now more than a baker's dozen specialty shops and restaurants are open, or about to open. All the more reason to discover all that's new at our beautiful country shopping village. Introduce yourself to the following non-food enterprises:

Now Open

Merle Norman is already making a beautiful impression on the Boulevard. This recently opened Carmel branch of "The Place for the Custom Face" specializes in personalized skin care, makeup and manicures. You can buy cosmetics anywhere. But only at Merle Norman Studios will you reap the benefits of professional beauty advisors who can show you how to use their superior products to your best advantage. Look into Merle Norman at 203 Crossroads Boulevard.

The Rio Connection is now open at Park Walk. This elegant emporium showcases antiques, jewelry, and quality pieces of art. The Rio Connection further provides its patrons with a computerized network of information regarding availability of objects rare and unique from all ports and markets of the world.

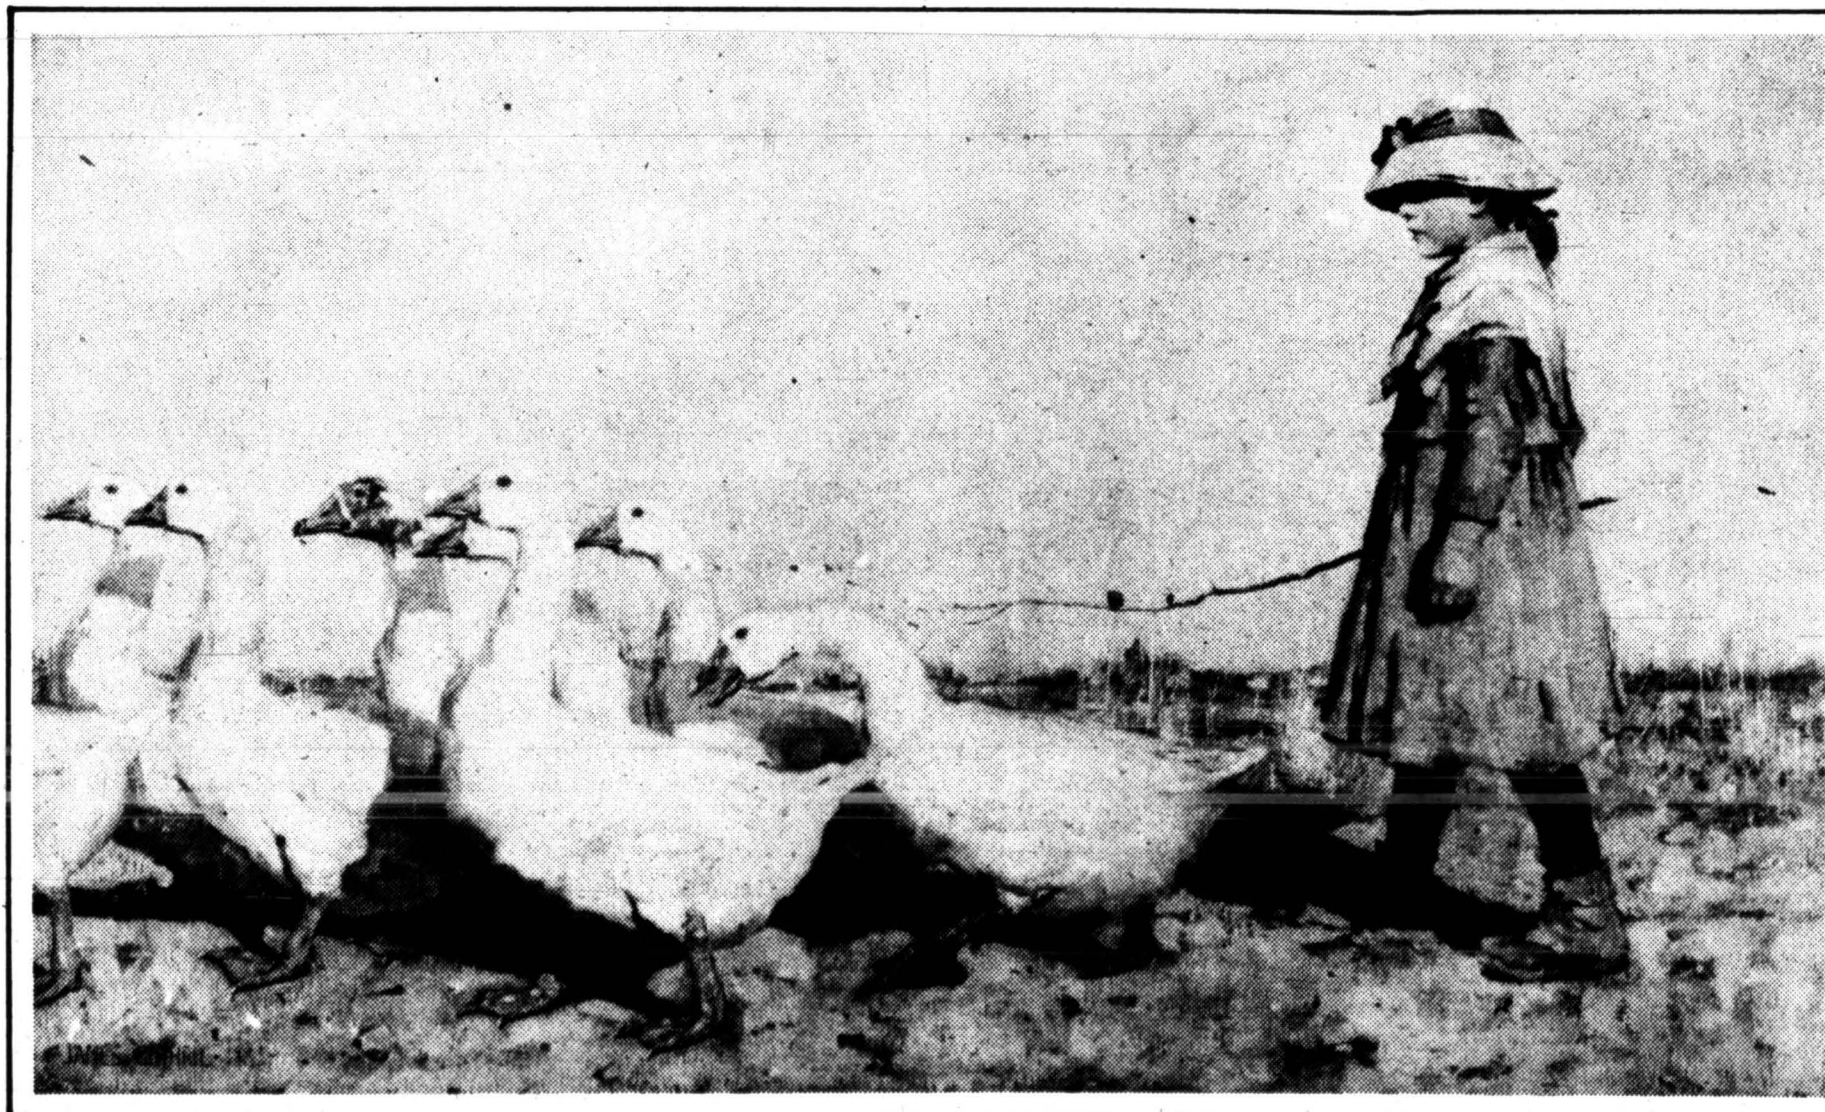

Ms. Sheila Snyder and Mr. Victor de Alameda Lopes present the look of Portuguese and South American furniture of the 17th and 18th Centuries, and the wonderful paintings of local artist Shell Fisher and Spanish artist Ruizinglada.

Soon to Come

Quail Corner is a creative craft shop that features the work of Carmel Folk Art painter and owner, Antoinette Cox. Quail Corner is also a gift shop presenting unique works handmade by artists from around the USA, including "Wreaths for All Reasons" by Donna Rentel. Stop by and see Antoinette at work. She will be happy to decorate and personalize your folk art item in the traditional manner. Opening around April 1 at 227 Crossroads Boulevard.

"To Pastures New" ... a just-in print from Carmel Poster Gallery.

We carry the finest selection of prints and posters in the Monterey Bay area. We also offer framing, matting and shipping services.

Relocating

Mostly for Men is dedicated to equal shopping rights for men of all ages. At last, a shop full of unusual and useful non-apparel items that have been selected "just for him": Art for home or office, leather goods, electronic high-tech gadgets, fine barware, clocks and watches, plus imported personal care merchandise. Of course, there are quality goods for the outdoor and sports-oriented man. And "Mostly" for Men means that the ladies are not forgotten! In business March 31 at 223 Crossroads Boulevard.

Chi Design Imports will take you around the world in one hour. That's the time it takes to "travel" through this new shop that displays fine oriental furniture, European paintings, African sculpture and Celadon vases. Now you can enrich your home with new treasures from "over there" as well as here. Owner Chong Chi also represents paintings by Edward and Terese Dunlavey of Monterey. Grand Opening celebration slated for April 6 in their Mayfair Court location.

Bugaboo Mountaineering will be moving to 118 Crossroads Boulevard. This Peninsula group of outdoor shops is well known for its own quality down products. In addition, Bugaboo offers the rest of the best names in clothing and camping gear. It's so nice to have a Bugaboo near by where you can buy good things and get knowledgeable answers to your mountaineering questions!

Stitch-It plans to relocate to The Crossroads in Mid-April. Owners Zelma and Alan Weinfield have built up a loyal following of Peninsula customers who love their comprehensive selection of stitchery items and supplies. Soon you will be able to park right in front of the all-new Stitch-It at 106 Crossroads Blvd.

Restaurants Galore to

New Places to Eat

Village Inn is now open at its new location next to the Bank of America. A flagship of the Central California Village Inn Restaurants, this Crossroads branch has already become known for its hearty breakfast menu that's served all day and night. Manager Harry Grabe and his friendly staff always extend an extra measure of service to make your meal a pleasure. Reasonably priced family luncheons and dinners abound, plus "Nite Owl" specials that are served from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. Yes, Village Inn is open 24 hours every day of every week!

La Patisserie Juliette is going to be open to tantalize your taste buds ... very soon! Juliette Garneri and her daughter, Christine, will present real French pastries with "low salt and low sugar" content. Juliette knows her pastries well, for she is the former owner of La Maison du Croissant bakery in Monterey. She brings her delicious recipes from her home province of Lorraine, France. Look for la Patisserie Juliette in Steinbeck Court.

Willow Tea Room is so much more than its name indicates. It will be a full-time restaurant specializing in high tea, low tea and cream tea meals. Patterned after the three other famous Willow Tea Rooms in England and Scotland, this Carmel edition will feature ornate art nouveau decor, a lovely cocktail salon ... even a gazebo and antique boutique! The Willow Tea Room is slated to open July 1 at 245 Crossroads Boulevard. However, their Willow Tea Room Studio, downstairs at 233 Crossroads Blvd., will be open April 1. Just the place to browse for books and art nouveau objects!

Already Popular

Cafe Central has enjoyed instant success since the opening of this family-style cafe a few months ago. Herb and Tara Evans present wholesome foods, plus a unique concept. Patrons are encouraged to create their own meals via "free choice" combinations of any delicious item on Cafe Central's varied menu. This husband and wife team have built three successful restaurants together. In fact, Tara is the Chef, and daughter Shelley the General Manager! Breakfast is served all day. Dinner from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. (to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday).

Sghetti's is The Pasta Place at The Crossroads! John Hunter and Ed Pilon specialize in Italian Spaghetti, Linguini, Fettucini, Rigatoni, Fusilli and Ravioli dishes to take out or eat in. Fresh is the word that best describes Sghetti's. Pasta is made daily on the premises from the finest Semolina flour and farm fresh eggs. A wide variety of homemade sauces include Pesto, Clam and Alfredo. 11 a.m.-8 p.m. (Sunday, Noon-5 p.m.)

Please Every Taste

Chutney's Gourmet Cafe is open 7 days a week to satisfy your hunger for good food served in a comfortable atmosphere. Continental dinners are cooked to order. And lunch menus are also available for dinner. Owner Fuad Vahou says that their homemade soups and desserts are particularly popular. Chutney's chutney is for sale, as well as other gourmet food items. Hours: 11 a.m.-10 p.m. (Sundays 11 a.m.-5 p.m.).

The Mandarin offers traditional Oriental cuisine from North, East, South and Central China. Daily specials include soup, rice and tea. Enjoy The Mandarin's lovely atmosphere, or order-to-go. Lunch is served 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Dinner, 5:30-9:30 p.m. except Saturday & Sunday 5:30-10 p.m.

Local Favorites

Crossroads Cafe is a great place to stop by for breakfast, or a hamburger, or a tasty dinner. In a relaxing "outdoor" setting in Steinbeck Court, Crossroads Cafe serves up excellent meals, plus wine or beer, from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. daily (7 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday).

Rio Grill offers wonderful American fare for lunch and dinner, and a friendly cocktail lounge where Carmelites are wont to frequent! Open daily for lunch 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.; dinner 5:30-10 p.m. Cocktails until 1 a.m.

New Foods for Feasting

Sweet William Chocolate Company plans to open by Easter at 206 Crossroads Blvd. Just in time to tempt you with mouth-watering treats, including chocolate Easter Bunnies of all sizes and chocolate Charlie Chaplins. This new home of handmade goodies will feature their exclusive Belgian Chocolates. In addition, Espresso and Cappuccino will be served. Buy just one piece of candy ... or 20 pounds. Christine Heycke will be proud to introduce you to the new world of Sweet William.

More Specialty Foods

Candy Cupboard of Carmel stocks 200 varieties of candy, plus flavored candy popcorn and unique gift items. Scrumptious Shaw's Chocolates of San Francisco are featured year 'round. But on April 5 & 6, enjoy even more ... Candy Cupboard's Easter "Eggstravaganza", complete with Easter Bunny. Lots of fun for kids of all ages!

Still hungry? Be sure to visit The Bagel Bakery, Bud's Ice Cream of San Francisco, Carmel Wine & Cheese Co., The Carmel Wet Fish Market, House of Life, Monterey Baking Co. and The Village Yogurt.

Stop in and ask Manager Conrte Tringali to help you find the right clothes to flatter your body style.

The Treadmill is a Sports Boutique, with apparel, sports shoes, and many other great things for the outdoor minded. There's a big choice of first-class running shoes, of course. Aerobic shoes and tennis shoes, too. With socks to match. There's 17 vibrant shades in light, mid, and heavy-weight sweats. There's super Canterbury rugby fashions in all sizes. There's even a treadmill. Soon to come ... C.P. Shades!

Chic Petite will open up a wonderfully new world of fashion particularly for women who wear petite sizes. Owners Nancy and Bruce Hotchkiss are bringing in the best lines from around the U.S. No more searching for that perfect Spring/Summer outfit to fit your petite dimensions. By mid-April, you will be able to find beautiful fashions designed to flatter your figure at Chic Petite. On the Boulevard at number 239.

New Fashions

Neil's Apparel is arriving from the Palm Springs area! Long a fashion "must" on El Paseo (the Rodeo Drive of Palm Desert), this quality shop will be opening their eleventh location at 241 Crossroads Boulevard. In the Desert, Neil's is where woman shops for that casually elegant look. Neil's "does it with style" from daytime to evening wear ... in fashions, colors and fabrics particularly appropriate to the Carmel lifestyle. This new Neil's will also incorporate a traditional men's boutique.

Bill Tosetti's Woolen Shops of California will soon be the place for both women and men to purchase those wonderful Pendleton wool fashions that are so perfect for the Carmel climate. When the doors open May 1 at 219 Crossroads Boulevard, Bill Tosetti will offer the traditionally favorite 100% wool blazers, sweaters, skirts and slacks that made Pendleton famous. Naturally, this woolen shop will also feature many more fashions and accessories in the wool theme.

Service With a Smile

The almost-lost art of friendly folks rendering good service is still alive at The Crossroads. Come on over and use our service enterprises. You'll smile, also.

Bank of America stands ready to make your money matters flow easier, faster. Stop by and meet branch manager, Joseph Pironi. He will be glad to introduce you to this full-service bank.

Crossroads Travel is unique, indeed. Where else can you find a travel agency that boasts only past-owners of travel agencies? Each an expert in a different area of the travel business... all the better to guide you through the maze of details that go along with "smooth sailing." If it's a cruise to Alaska, a tour of Europe, or the next flight to New York, call Crossroads Travel and ask for owner Ruth Taka.

Totally You means just what the name implies. Total beauty care for hair, manicures, pedicures, massage, facials, make-up, etc. The "Menu" of services is impressive, from haircuts to EVP 3 for hair restoration. From cap frosting to body waxing. There are 7 stylists to serve you, and evening visits are available by appointment. In the Mall.

Wells Fargo Bank provides loans, deposit accounts and trust services... all with The Crossroads convenience. The Wells Fargo tradition includes personal effort and banking innovation, a combination that has served the West well since 1852.

Coming Through: A Wells Fargo Tradition

A rare combination of personal effort and banking innovation built Wells Fargo Bank.

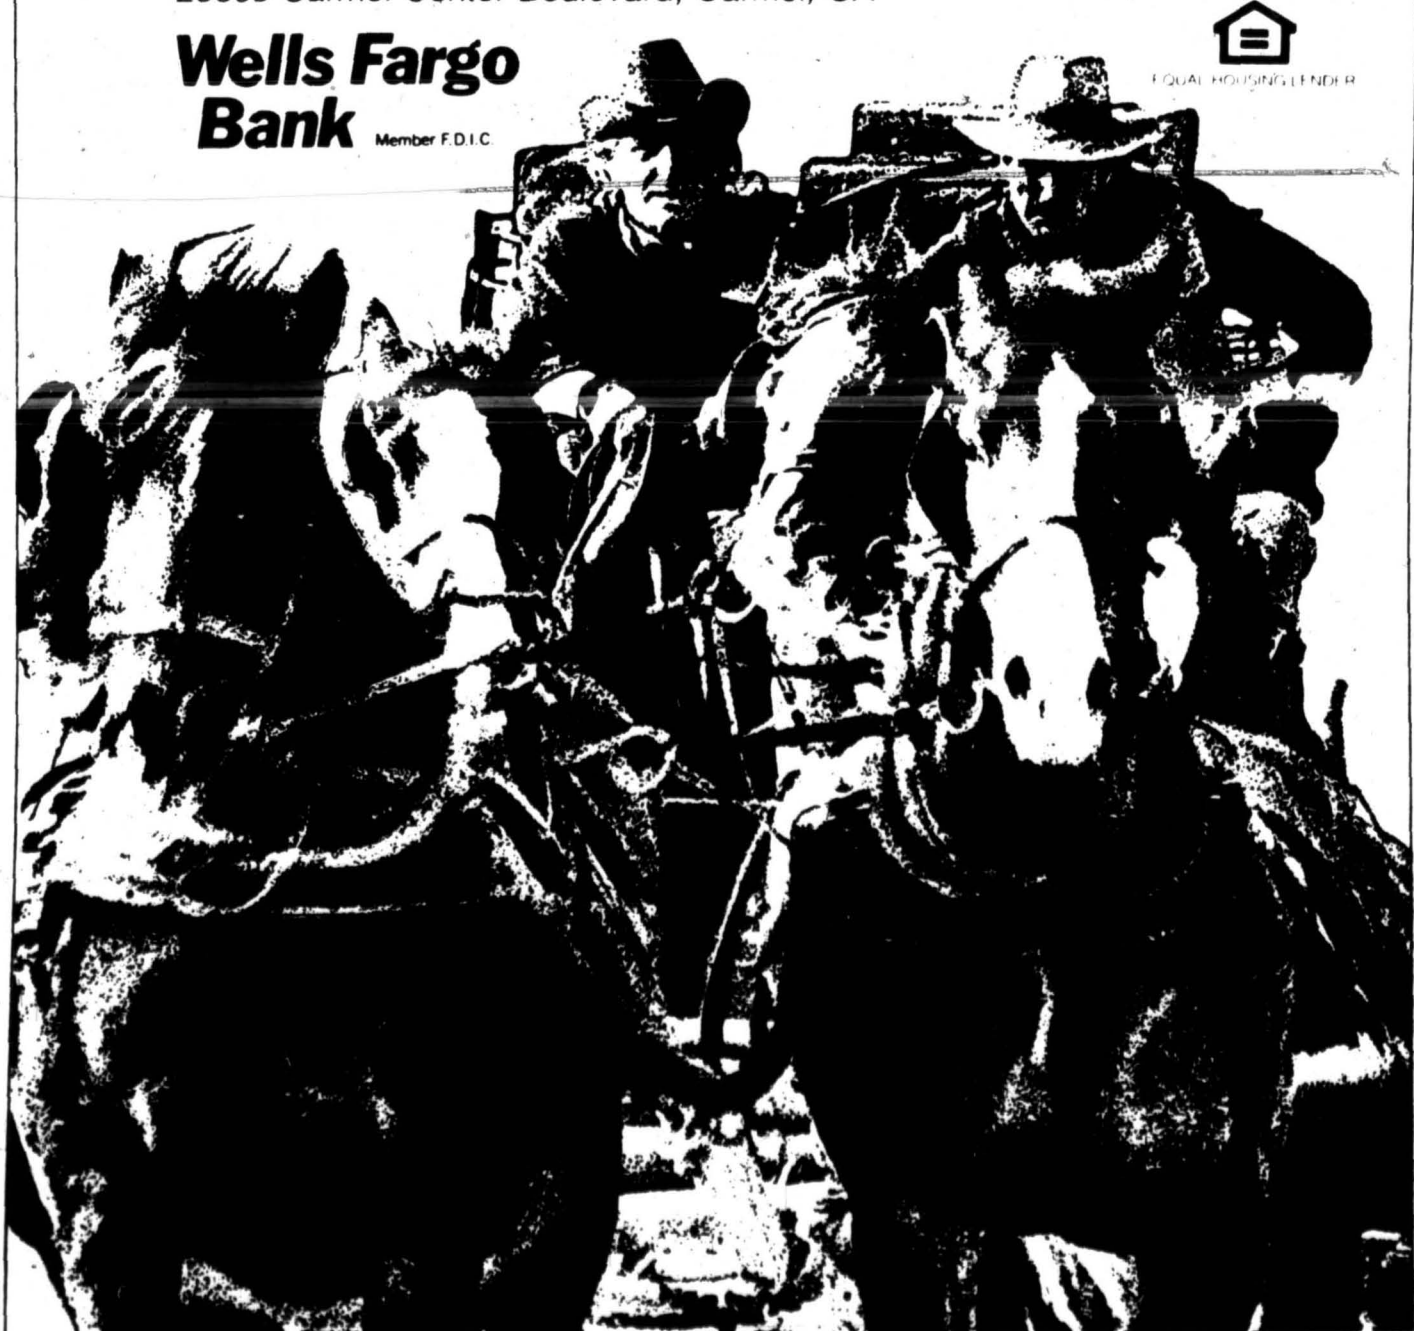

And Wells Fargo has been helping the West grow since 1852.

For Loans, Deposit Accounts and Trust Services:

Carmel Valley Office • Carmel Center (408) 625-2330
Highway 1 at Rio Road, Carmel, CA

Carmel Trust Department • Carmel Center (408) 625-1522
26609 Carmel Center Boulevard, Carmel, CA

Coming Attractions

Kite Fest April 27-28

This weekend kite extravaganza will prove to be colorful, informative and possibly profitable, via our free prizes:

- Grand Prize — $500.00 Cash!
- Runner-Up — Gift Certificates!
- Free kites to first 100 people!

Kites of all shapes and sizes will be on display at The Crossroads enclosed Mall between Safeway and Straw Hat Pizza. See kites from around the world, from 9 to 12 feet long. You may purchase these kites and know that all proceeds will be donated to a local, non-profit cause.

All day on April 27 come see World Master Kite Champion, Dinesh Bashadur, demonstrate the ancient art of Kite Fighting. Learn how to fly a kite without wind or running. Enjoy the film, "Indian Kite Fight" in The Crossroads Room.

The Kite Flying Competition will take place on April 28. Find out how well you can do in the following categories: Most Beautiful Kite, Smallest Kite to Fly, Highest Altitude Kite, Flying Skill and Best Homemade Kite (for children 15 and under). Have fun, everyone!

Registration forms and rules will be available at any Crossroads business two weeks prior to the Kite Fest. For further information, call 625-4106.

African Violet Show May 4

An African Violet Show and Sale is slated for Saturday, May 4th. Sponsored by The African Violet Society, this event will take place in the enclosed Mall from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Orchid Show May 11

The Carmel Orchid Society will present an Orchid Show and Sale on May 11. Events include potting and culture demonstrations, corsage creation and an exhibition of prize-winning plants.
